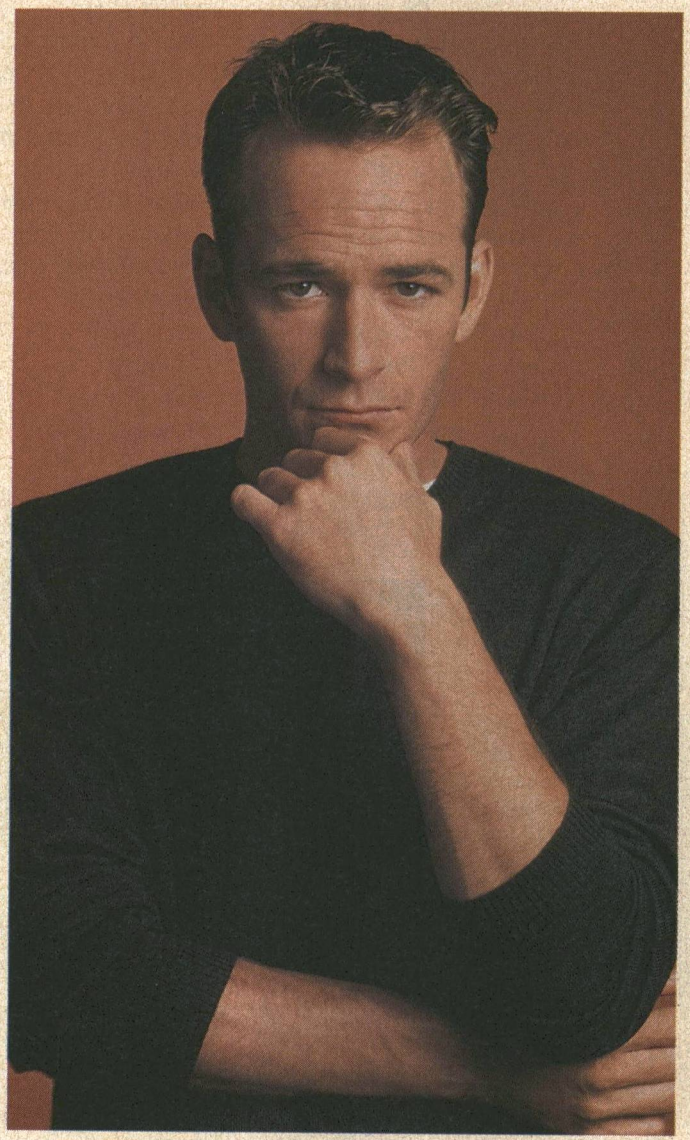
Luke returns, Dawn rising

LUKE PERRY is returning to Beverly Hills 90210, after leaving the show in 1995. Like many other actors – such as NYPD Blue*'s David Caruso, and assorted Friends – Perry mistakenly thought that he could quit the small screen and conquer the big screen. But films such as* Eight Seconds and Normal Life sank with barely a trace and movie stardom never materialised. And so he is back at Beverly Hills High as rebellious Dylan McKay, having told the Los Angeles Daily News that he would never go back. 'Nope, I have other things to do,' he said, adding, 'It's pretty scary to play the same guy for all those years.' Still, if Perry is returning with his tail between his legs then that tail has at least been expensively coiffeured. For he has reportedly clinched a deal with Fox ensuring that, in exchange for him agreeing to star in at least 12 episodes of 90210, he will get to star in his own series. Meanwhile, the bosses seem pleased to have him back. 'Luke is a dear friend, and I'm thrilled,' says executive producer Aaron Spelling, Tori's dad. Beverly Hills 90210, Sky One, Sundays 2.00pm



THE king of entomologists – students of insects – is Georges Brossard, who hosts the remarkable series Insectia. He was brought up on a remote farm in Quebec. So little happened that he had to make his own entertainment. He did so by studying insects, and at the age of 10 opened a small insectarium, charging people five cents to view his collection. Brossard later became a lawyer, but his enthusiasm for insects never waned. After 15 years of law, he embraced his childhood passion once more. Thanks to his enthusiasm, funds were raised to build the Montreal Insectarium. This time, entry was five dollars. So what does he make of the recent spate of films about insects, notably Antz and A Bug's Life? 'For 50 years we had a lot of lemons,' says Brossard. 'The Fly, Arachnophobia, they created fear of insects. But these new films show that insects are not monsters. They are beautiful.' National Geographic Channel, Fridays 9.00pm

APPARENTLY, The Vicar of Dibley is following in the footsteps of Absolutely Fabulous and wowing America. Meanwhile, its star, Dawn French, has never been busier. A film, Milk, in which she stars with Francesca Annis and her Dibley parishioner James Fleet, is due to be released later this year. In a BBC project, Ted and Alice, she plays a nurse in love with an alien. And she is even co-writing an animated sitcom, Bosom Pals, in which the characters are fat women taken from the paintings of Beryl Cook. Speaking of fat women, some Comic Relief viewers were reportedly shocked to see how large 41-year-old French has become in recent months, but she has always been determinedly un-neurotic about her size. 'I never took any really painful flak about being a big girl. I wasn't having any trouble. I wasn't lacking boyfriends. I wasn't lacking self-esteem. The only thing I was lacking was clothes.' Both she, and her husband Lenny Henry, are eager to ensure that their adopted daughter Billie grows up with a similarly healthy attitude. 'I don't lecture her about it but I keep my eyes open. I would be sorry if she became a body fascist like so many other people.' The Vicar of Dibley, UK Gold, Tuesdays from 11th, 9.00pm

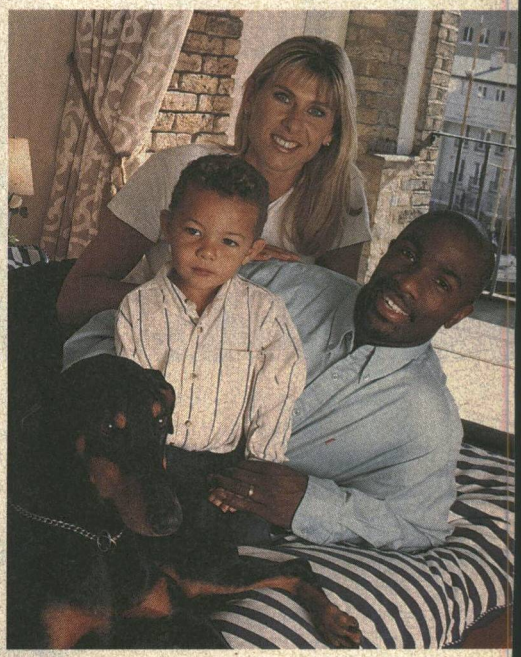
THE History Channel has launched a nationwide project to celebrate the Millennium. It is called Photos for the Future, the aim being to create a visual record of life in the 20th century for the benefit of future generations. The best and most appropriate photographs will feature in a series of regional exhibitions and one national exhibition, starting in autumn 1999 and running into January 2000. The closing date for entries is 30 July. For more details, contact the History Channel, Centaurs Business Park, Grant Way, Isleworth, Middlesex TW7 5QD.



SINCE turning her back on a career as a scientist, Lisa Kudrow has become hot property in movie circles. At the Oscars in March she may have appeared nervous, but Kudrow has been proving herself as a confident actress with more to her acting ability than the dizzy Phoebe. As well as Friends, this month she 'stars' in Disney's Hercules, voicing the part of Aphrodite alongside Jennifer Aniston's Galetea. Kudrow has also co-starred with Billy Crystal and Robert De Niro in the comedy Analyze This, which opens in cinemas here on 14 May. She plays TV reporter Laura, the impatient fiancée of Crystal, a psychiatrist who finds his latest patient, a mafia mobster played by De Niro, unwelcomely intrusive.

But perhaps her strongest departure from the role of Phoebe is seen in her portrayal of the sexually repressed Lucia in The Opposite of Sex.

Life after Friends may be hard to contemplate for some, but it is not so difficult to imagine Lisa Kudrow with a very busy future ahead of her, Friends or no Friends.

Disney Channel, Monday 3rd, 4.30pm

SHARRON DAVIES, the former Olympic swimmer, gave birth to her daughter Grace, now 10 months, in a birthing pool. No, she says firmly, she was not tempted to do a couple of lengths of breaststroke in the final moments of labour. In fact, it was a very peaceful experience, shared by her five-year-old son Elliott, who was in the pool too. Davies talks about her experiences in Perfect Parenting, a series of eight programmes offering tips to dads as well as mums. A cynic would say that perfect parenting should not involve marital discord within a year of a child's birth – Davies and partner Derek Redmond have reportedly separated – but she seems unfazed by this. 'Even though we've had our problems, Derek is quite a good dad,' she says. 'I know if I'm away for a weekend that he can cope. And that is important. Men can feel left out when babies are born.' As a former athlete, Davies is well-qualified to advise on fitness. 'I think that fitness for children is terribly overlooked,' she says. 'Proportionately, there are as many obese children under the age of 10 in Britain as there are in America. People forget that children follow by example. If parents sit in front of the TV for hours on end, their children will too. Elliott does a lot of exercise.' Which, with Davies as a mum and Redmond, a runner, as a dad, is not altogether surprising. How is Elliott's swimming coming on, by the way? 'He learnt in a class,' she says. 'I tried to teach him but he wouldn't listen.'

A triple bill you can't refuse

All three Godfather movies are on Sky Cinema this month. Graham Oliver reviews the films that turned their director into a legend

BACK in 1971, Francis Ford Coppola scooped a best screenplay Oscar for his work on the war biopic Patton, but his career as a director didn't seem to be in any danger of earning him similar plaudits: he could list only a handful of directing credits on such less-than-prestigious pictures as the student sexploitation flick Tonight for Sure and the syrupy Irish song-and-dance fantasy Finian's Rainbow. But a year later Coppola took the pulpy plot of novelist Mario Puzo's gangster pot-boiler The Godfather and transformed it into pure cinematic poetry. The film earned three Academy Awards, including best picture, and the previously little-known Coppola suddenly became one of the most celebrated directors in Hollywood.

Coppola's romanticised and richly detailed chronicle of the rise of the Corleone crime family is one of those rare instances when the film is far better than the source novel (though, to be fair, Puzo himself helped Coppola adapt the book) and this month Sky Cinema gives you the chance to reacquaint yourself with this seminal Mafia movie and its two sequels.

Marlon Brando leads the cast of 'The Godfather' (above); Robert De Niro in Part II (below) and Al Pacino in Part III (bottom)

PHOTOS: MOVIESTORE COLLECTION, KOBAL

The Godfather was dominated by the powerful presence of Method acting titan Marlon Brando. He mumbled his way to a best actor Oscar for his blistering portrayal of the patriarchal Don Vito Corleone (though he would refuse the award in protest of his country's mistreatment of indigenous Americans), but he received faultless support from an impeccable cast that included James Caan, Robert Duvall and newcomer Al Pacino.

In all three films, Coppola spread the densely detailed plots across the screen with period panache. He explored the themes of love, loyalty and betrayal with consummate skill and demonstrated a generous understanding for his sometimes unsavoury characters. That we can sympathise and identify with such murderous men is testament to the director's artistry.

While the belated concluding instalment lacked the epic quality of its predecessors, it still has the power to astonish. Parts I and II, meanwhile, are permanent fixtures on best film lists and boast many classic moments: the infamous horse's-head-in-the-bed scene; the young Vito Corleone (played by Robert De Niro in the first sequel) creeping along tenement rooftops during a parade to trail the hoodlum he will assassinate; Vito's hot-headed son Sonny (James Caan) being riddled with bullets at a causeway.

The central character in the saga is Michael Corleone, played by Al Pacino. In The Godfather, the 22-year-old actor inhabited his character with an authority that belied his tender years and relative lack of experience. It is a richly observed performance and his portrayal of Michael's rise from principled war hero to ruthlessly powerful Mafia don is shattering.

In Part II, Pacino succeeds in breathing a poignantly affecting sense of guilt and sadness into the role – the key to the film's air of melancholy, which is once again intensified by composer Nino Rota's haunting theme.

The three movies form a cohesive, compelling and often uncompromisingly brutal family saga that is blessed by Coppola's striking direction, the sharply shadowed cinematography of Gordon Willis and some of the finest character studies ever committed to celluloid. Sky Cinema's triple bill is an entertainment offer no self-respecting film fan can refuse.

Part 1, Tuesday 4th, 10.00pm
Part II, Tuesday 11th, 10.00pm
Part III, Tuesday 18th, 10.00pm

WATCH OUT!

● Guiding Stars makes it debut on Sky One next month. The show asks top names from fields as diverse as modelling and professional football to give a helping hand to up-and-coming youngsters.

● Two new series based on hit films start on Sci-Fi Channel in the summer. The Crow: Stairway to Heaven stars Mark Dacasos in the role made famous by Brandon Lee in the 1994 movie. And Brooke Langton takes over Sandra Bullock's role in The Net.

● Also on Sci-Fi in June, to celebrate the centenary of Alfred Hitchcock's birth, there's a tribute to the master of suspense which includes screenings of his classic movies including Rear Window, Vertigo and Rope, plus rare footage of the man himself.

● Discovery Channel's gruelling endurance competition Eco Challenge is screened next month. Find out what happened to the 53 teams from around the world, who this year battled the elements in Morocco.

● Crack open the Bolly, sweetie! Absolutely Fabulous starts a welcome re-run on UK Gold in August. The channel will screen all three seasons of the cult show.

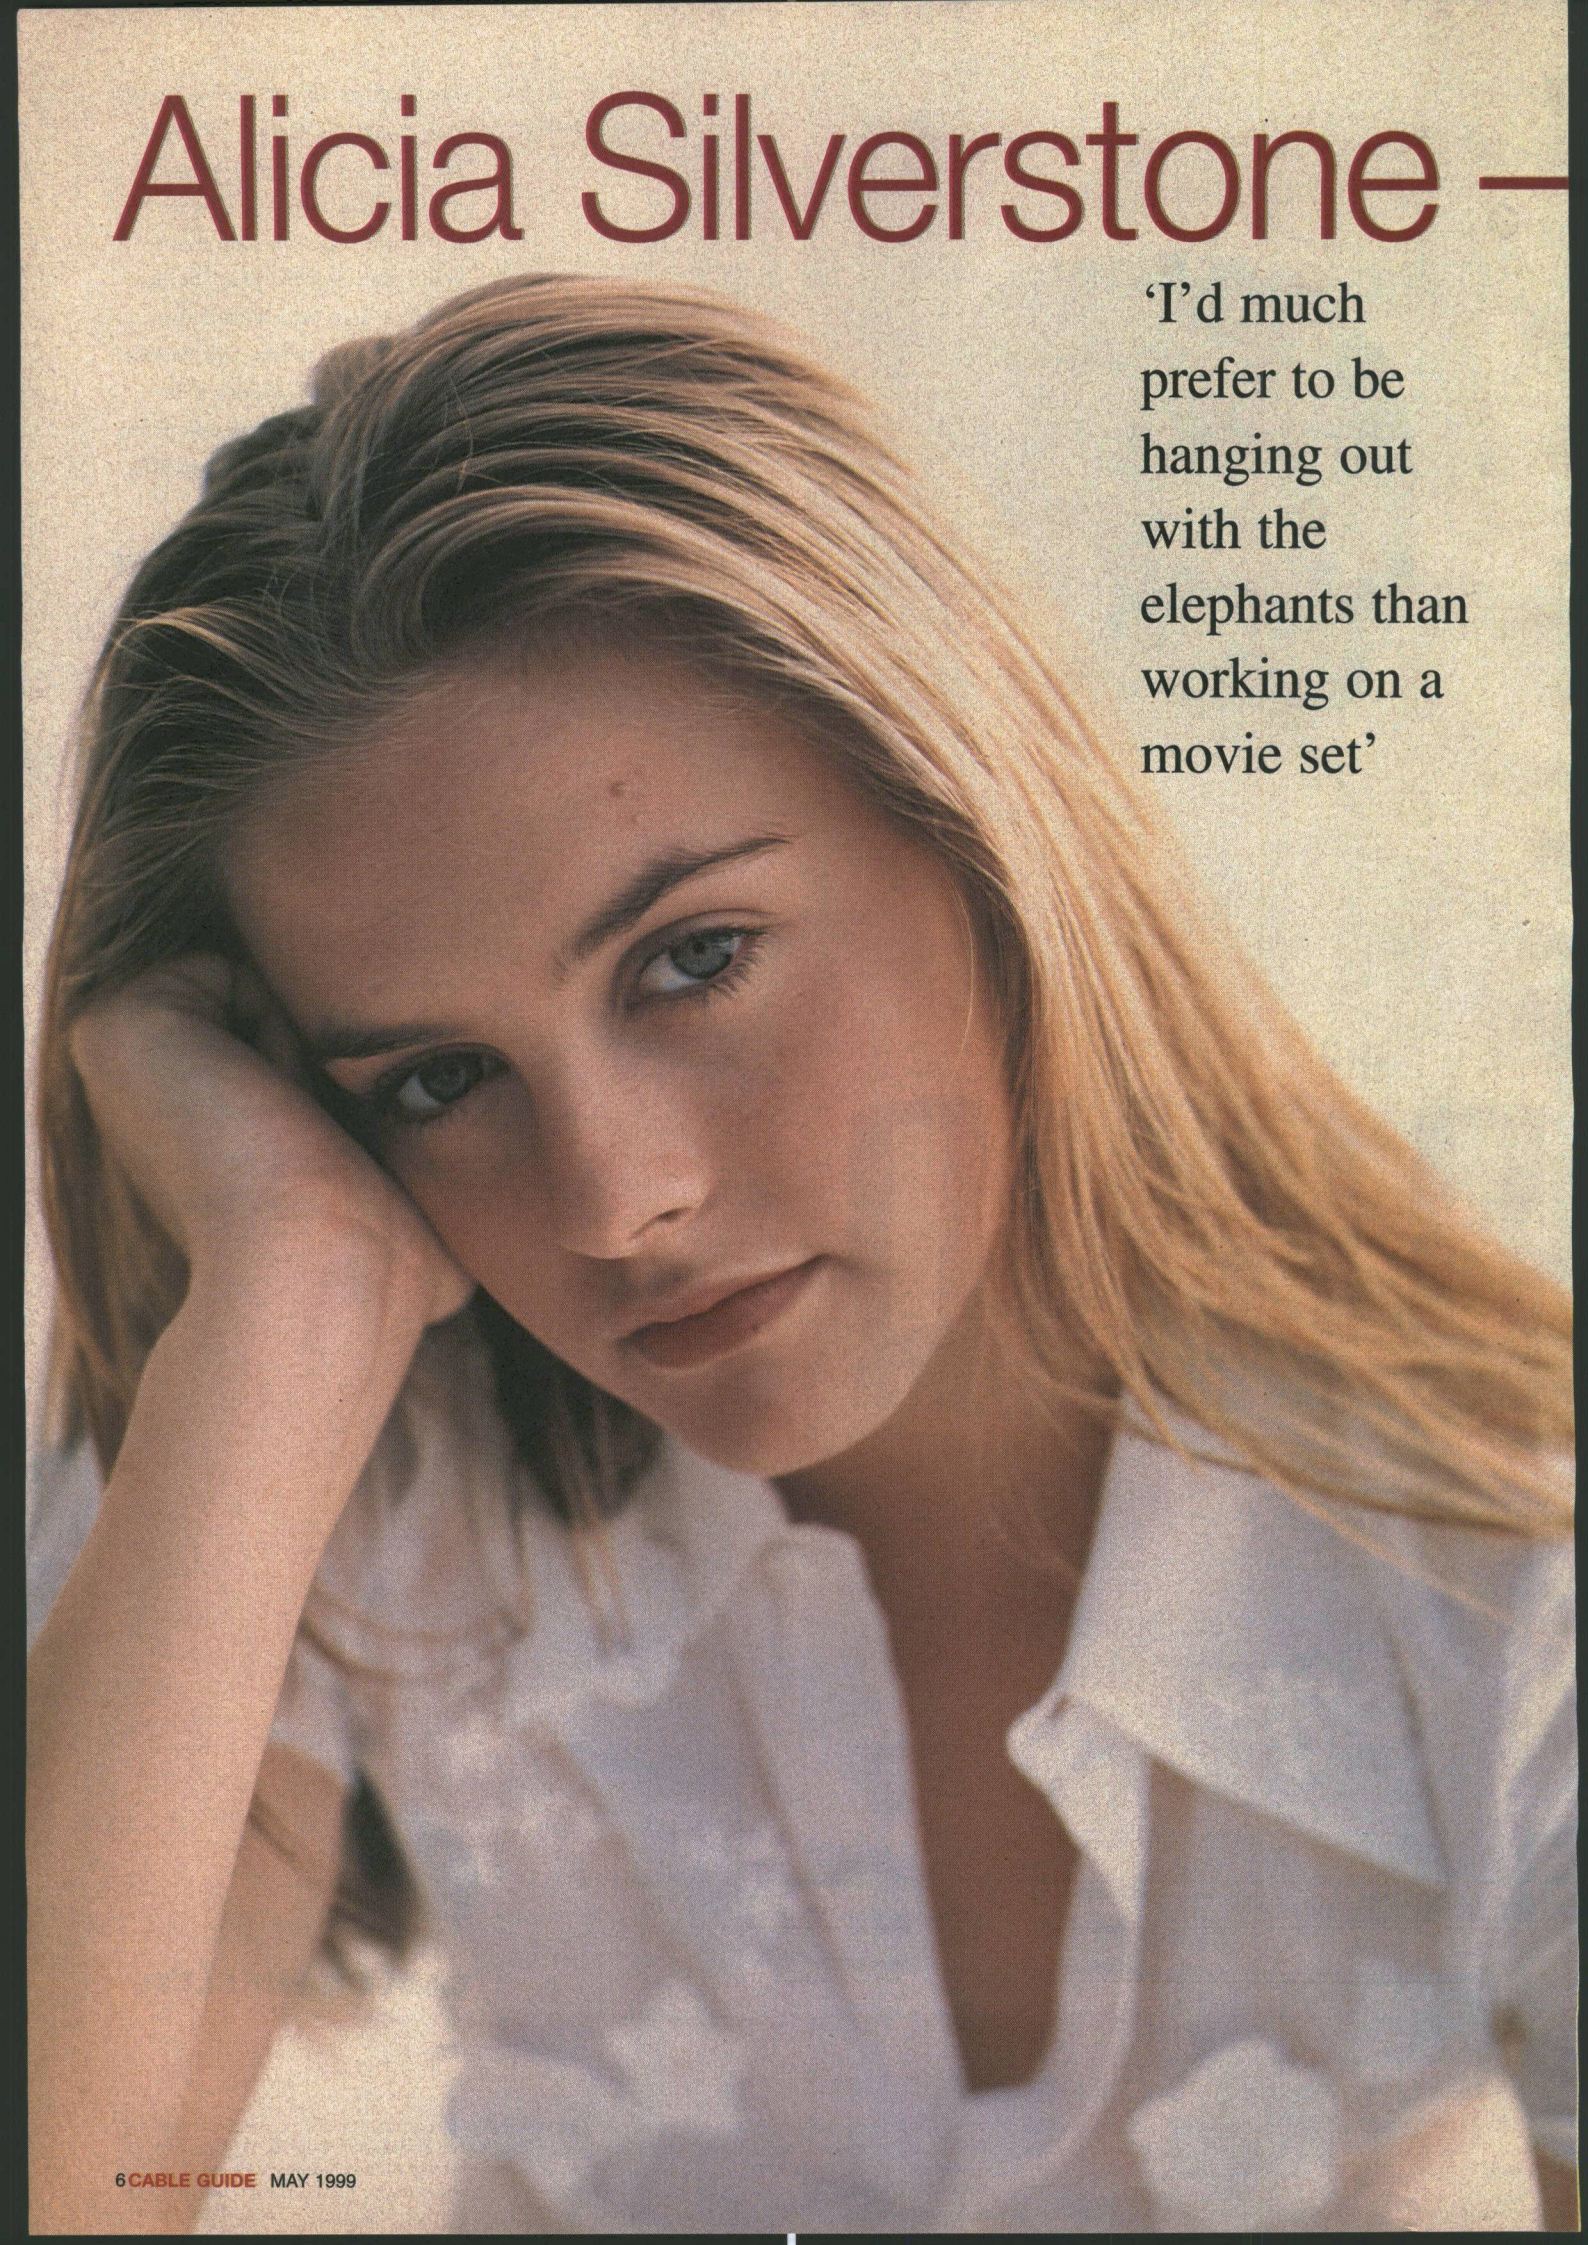
Alicia Silverstone –



'I'd much prefer to be hanging out with the elephants than working on a movie set'

wild about Africa

You might think of her as a cute movie star, but Batgirl Alicia Silverstone is revealed to be a committed animal lover during an emotional trip to Africa. Interview: Jane Oddy

WILDLIFE VET
TUESDAY 11TH
7.30PM

Alicia helps the vets treating the Zimbabwean elephants that are suffering from 'floppy trunk syndrome'

THE star of Clueless and Batman and Robin does cute by the bucketload, but confesses that underneath the sugary exterior she is longing to do something worthwhile. So when the National Geographic Channel offered Alicia Silverstone the chance to become a wildlife vet in Zimbabwe, she jumped at it.

A committed vegan, she is starting her own animal foundation for wounded or abandoned pets and is also heavily involved in animal rights groups in America. She says that hosting Wildlife Vet, a one-hour documentary, over 12 action-packed days on a remote African island was 'one of the best things I've done in my life'.

'It was so amazing. It was the coolest thing I've ever experienced. I couldn't have imagined what I ended up experiencing in the programme but my whole life I've always dreamed of being in Africa. For me, it's been an even bigger dream than becoming an actress,' she enthuses.

For the programme, she joined real-life veterinarian Dave Jessup in Zimbabwe. A medical pioneer, he is considered a leading expert in the art of darting, tagging and capturing dangerous animals.

He and Alicia worked together with sick animals, including elephants who suffer from a debilitating trunk paralysis, called floppy-trunk syndrome, which is devastating local herds by making them unable to feed and drink properly.

But treating the diseased elephants was not without its dramas. Dave used a tranquilliser gun to put one of the elephants to sleep while they attached a radio collar to monitor his progress: 'The problem is that they have to get mobile again after half an hour once they are awake or they won't get up again. They will just die because they can't get enough oxygen to the heart,' Alicia says.

It took them an hour to get the animal to stand and Alicia feared he might die: 'He was awake but he just wouldn't get up. There were 15 of us pushing him, even the doctors were in tears. It was the scariest thing I've ever seen. We even hooked him to a jeep and that didn't work. Finally, a herd of elephants walked by and he just stood up as if to join them. I couldn't stop crying.'

More used to flashy hotels, Alicia, 22, was not fussy about how she lived during filming and stayed in a hut on the island despite discovering millipedes in her bed. In fact, she didn't want to leave. 'I'd much prefer to be hanging out with the elephants in the world than working on a movie set,' she says.

For someone with no Hollywood ambitions, Alicia started early. Child modelling led to acting and she made her first feature, The Crush, when she was just 15. To beat Californian labour laws, she famously had to divorce her British-born parents – her dad Monty, an estate agent, and her mother Didi, a former air hostess, who moved to California to make a fortune in property.

The ruling meant that so long as she could prove she was able to financially support herself, she could work the long hours the film schedule demanded.

Horrendous hours seem to come with the territory. Meeting Alicia in a London hotel, she looks exquisitely pretty but also very tired. Hardly surprisingly as she is working a gruelling six-day week on Kenneth Branagh's latest Shakespearean epic Love's Labour's Lost at Shepperton Studios, in which she plays the lead female character, the Princess of France.

It is a quantum leap for an actress whose most recent outing was in the frothy comedy Blast from the Past. She appreciates Branagh's imaginative casting decision: 'When Ken offered it to me I thought he had lost his mind. It's a totally wonderful experience doing Shakespeare. You get to say words that mean so much. It's really exciting.

'These days I pick projects that interest, challenge or move me. I don't like working, so I just do things that I like.'

Alicia shot to fame in 1995, when she starred in the smash hit Clueless as Cher, a superficial Beverly Hills space cadet whose obsessions are shopping in the mall and dating.

The film's success earned Alicia an astonishing $10 million deal with Columbia Pictures, which gave her creative control of all her films and a producing credit.

Excess Baggage, in which she played a girl who fakes her own kidnapping to attract her father's attention, was one of her movies under those terms. But the three-year contract is over and she is working on her own projects with a production company that she set up with her manager and best friend Carolyn Kessler.

She appears disillusioned with the fame game and prefers walking the dog to going to parties: 'I'm not the sex kitten that people would imagine. Being famous can be very sad and horrible, although there is some good.

'The downside is being away from family and friends,' she says. Since she split from her hairdresser boyfriend Moize Chabbough, 28, a couple of years ago, she has been very much single.

Whoever she meets will have to share her love of animals or he'll be in the doghouse: 'I couldn't fall in love with someone who didn't feel the same as me,' she says firmly. 'But I'm sure I will find someone that does. All that's ever been important to me is love and I want to have one man that I share my whole life with.'

NEW SERIES

Sky One

Dilbert
Thursdays, 8.30pm

Ever wondered how not to succeed in business, despite really trying? Tune into Dilbert, Sky One's new animated series based on the hit cartoon strip

Man @ work

FOR someone who is, quite frankly, a failure in the workplace, Dilbert has become remarkably successful.

The spectacle-wearing engineer with poor verbal skills is the subject of one of the world's most widely read comic strips, and he's now got his own TV show. All of which will come as good news for office workers everywhere for whom Dilbert is a hero – the frustrated company employee who wants to climb the corporate ladder but can't seem to figure out how to get his foot on the next rung.

Creator Scott Adams conceived Dilbert while working for a large American corporation. He would keep himself awake during meetings by drawing unflattering cartoons of his colleagues and Dilbert gradually emerged. In 1988, Adams sent some of his cartoons to syndication agencies and the next year Dilbert was launched in 50 newspapers. Now he appears in 1900 newspapers around the world and is seen by 150 million people every day. He has his own website called The Dilbert Zone (www.unitedmedia.com/comics/dilbert) and a book, The Dilbert Principle, became the best-selling business book ever, spending 11 weeks at the top of the best-seller list.

Dilbert the TV show was the next logical step. Adams is co-executive producer of the series, along with Larry Charles whose credits include Seinfeld and Mad about You.

Dilbert is conscientious but constantly flabbergasted by the idiotic rules of office life. He works for The Company, where a daily onslaught of e-mails, voice mails, memos and meaningless meetings ensures that very little real work gets done and he's surrounded by colleagues who devote their time to concealing their own incompetence.

The fearsome Pointy Haired Boss is the architect of the crackpot schemes that Dilbert has to put into action along with his colleagues Alice, who survives on caffeine alone, and Wally, a long-term employee consumed by bitterness. Even Dilbert's home life is a mess. His mother, Dilmom, is disturbingly reminiscent of Mrs Bates in Psycho. Only Dogbert, Dilbert's superior canine consultant, offers any constructive help.

The first series sees Dilbert in charge of finding a name for the company's new product. The only problem is, the product doesn't even exist. Eventually the name Gruntmaster 6000 is hit upon and Dilbert must then create the product itself. But sinister forces within the company are determined to ensure he doesn't succeed.

Dilbert is voiced by Daniel Stern, who will sound familiar to viewers of The Wonder Years – he was the adult voice of Kevin Arnold in that series. Alice is played by Kathy Griffin (Vicki in Suddenly Susan), and Dogbert is played by Chris Elliott, who starred in last year's hit movie There's Something about Mary.

Adams insists there is no shortage of true stories about the ludicrous nature of life as a corporate employee. Many of the ideas for Dilbert are based on stories that readers enthusiastically provide him with via hundreds of e-mails every day. He positively encourages it by putting his e-mail address on the cartoon strip and, unlike his creation, is not at all fazed by the paraphernalia of the workplace. Dilbert would most likely bin them, unread.

The dream Cup Final!

Brace yourself. The current series of Dream Team is set to end in style. Tim Ewbank goes behind the scenes with your ticket to Wembley

SKY ONE

DREAM TEAM FINALE
TUESDAY 18TH,
THURSDAY 20TH 8.00PM

ON A SUNLIT afternoon, the electronic scoreboard at Wembley Stadium flashes out a message that will thrill every fan of Sky One's soccer drama Dream Team. It says: 'Wembley Stadium welcomes Harchester United,' which signals that, after more than 150 episodes, the fictional Midlands football team has made it to the FA Cup Final. Naturally, it's the biggest game in the club's history, not just because they have reached Wembley but because their opponents are mighty Manchester United. And if they can pull off an upset against the best team in the country, then the bad boys of Harchester United will be going into Europe in the next series.

For Harchester to walk out on to the famous Wembley turf is fantasy football come to life and the grand old stadium was hired for three days to film the epic match.

'I can promise you there are goals in the game,' says Rod Brown, football director for the series. 'There is a definite result and it doesn't go to a penalty shootout.'

This climax to Harchester United's season was to have been the cue for Man United's David Beckham to make his acting debut in Dream Team.

A scene was specially written where Beckham would chat to members of the Harchester United team as the players were lining up in the tunnel ready to take to the pitch. But, thanks to a traffic jam, Beckham couldn't get to Wembley in time to film his scenes and his cameo role has been scrapped.

He did at least manage to arrive in time to meet Dream Team's cast and he will still feature in the Harchester v Manchester showdown.

To capture all the excitement of a real Cup Final, Rod Brown has taken footage of a recent Wembley final featuring Manchester United and used cut-ins of Harchester players playing against them.

He explains: 'We take a great shot of the Wembley pitch and then use a close-up of a Harchester player to create the illusion they are playing Manchester United. We digitally re-master the colours to Harchester's own purple kit. People have said that you can't see the join and if that's the case then we are delighted.

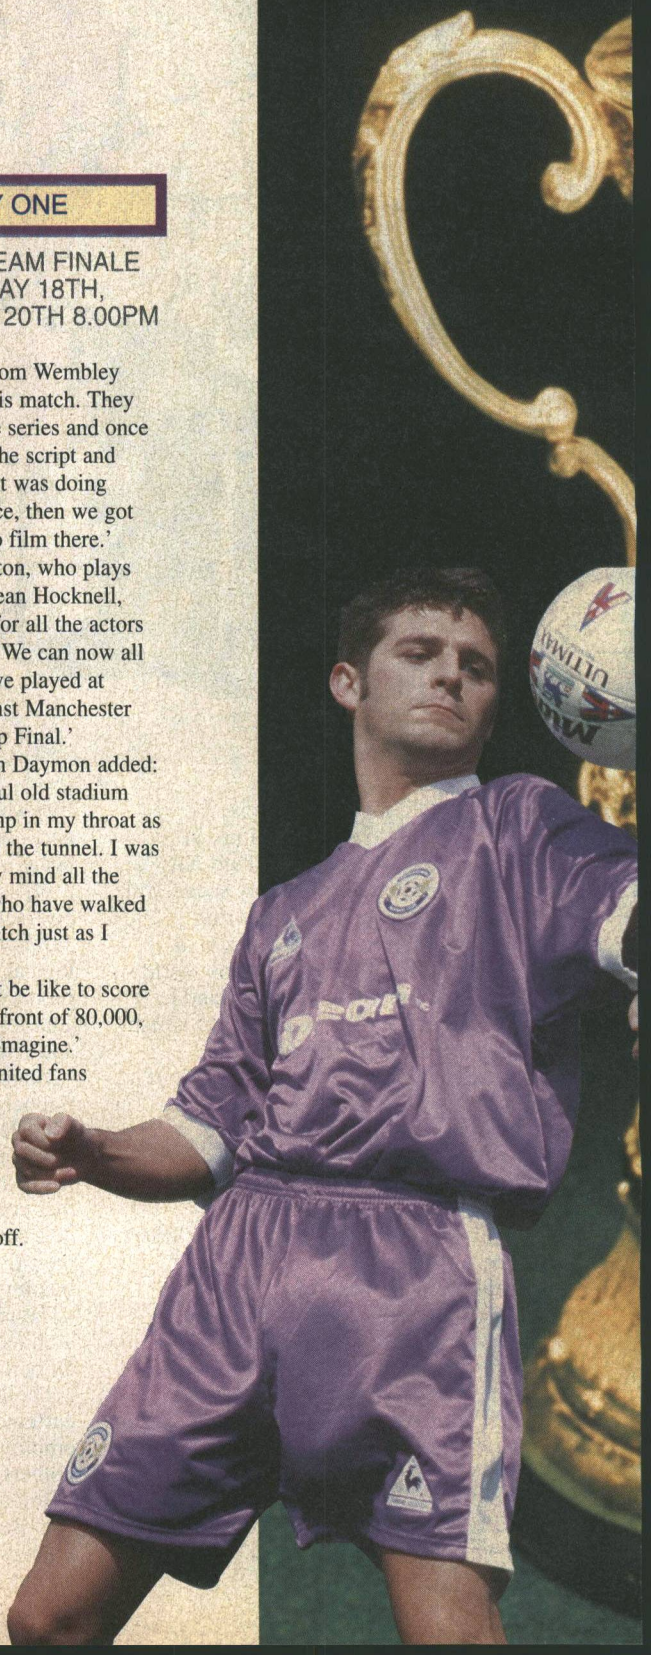
'We've had tremendous co-operation from Wembley over staging this match. They knew about the series and once they had read the script and were satisfied it was doing Wembley justice, then we got the go-ahead to film there.'

Daymon Britton, who plays Harchester's Sean Hocknell, summed it up for all the actors when he said: 'We can now all say that we have played at Wembley against Manchester United in a Cup Final.'

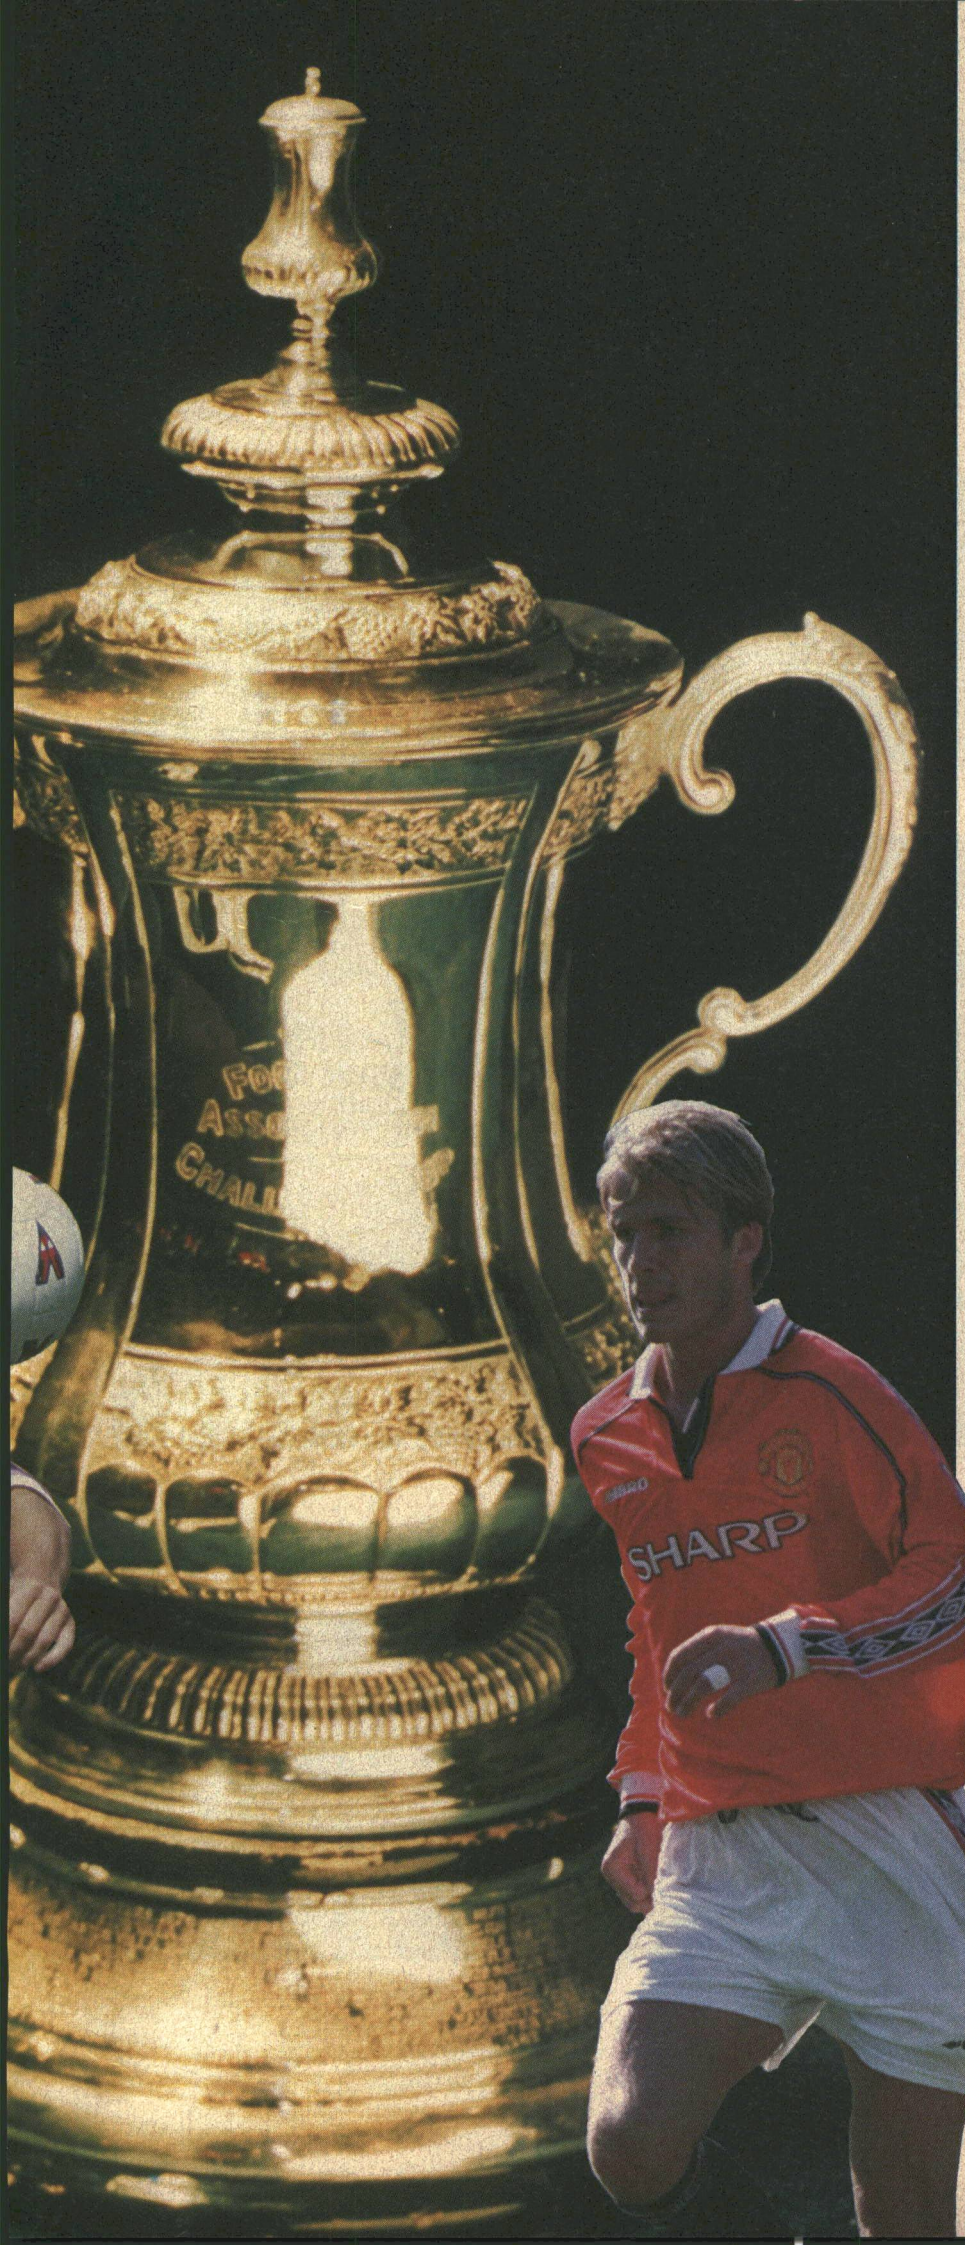
Newcastle fan Daymon added: 'It's a wonderful old stadium and I had a lump in my throat as I walked out to the tunnel. I was picturing in my mind all the great players who have walked out on to the pitch just as I was doing.

'What it must be like to score a goal there in front of 80,000, I simply can't imagine.'

Harchester United fans will just be hoping that their strikers have their shooting boots on come kick-off.

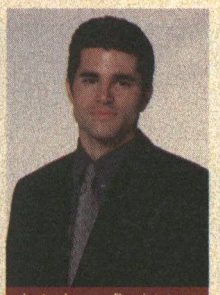


Sean Hocknell (Daymon Britton) has his sights set on scoring at Wembley



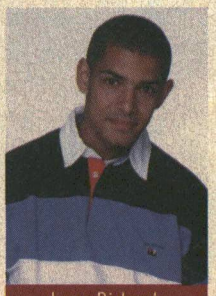
Manchester United's David Beckham couldn't make it to the filming on time, but should still feature in the on-field action

Lynda Block (Alison King)



Luis Amor Rodriguez (Martin Crewes)

Alex Wilkinson (Craig Robert Young)



Leon Richards (Nathan Constance)

The story so far ...

Chairman Jerry Block (Michael Melia) learned that Player/Manager Luis (Martin Crewes) is planning to run off to Buenos Aires with his wife Lynda (Alison King) after the Cup Final. He hires a hitman to shoot Luis after the match. Luis chooses Leon (Nathan Constance) for the Cup Final team, but not Alex (Craig Robert Young). Alex gets closer to Leon's ex-wife. Leon becomes concerned that Alex is going to harm his son and he disappears with the boy the night before the Final. Alex takes Leon's place in the squad. Captain of the side, John Black (Gary MacDonald), is chosen for the squad, but he's worried about his fitness due to his dodgy knees. He will have a fitness test on the morning of the match. Ex-manager Ian Coates (Francis Johnston) has completely lost the plot and thinks he should still be managing the team.

Who will lead the team out as Manager? Will Leon get his place back from Alex? Will John Black admit to Luis that he's not fit enough to play? Will Luis and Lynda run away after the game? Will Jerry's hitman shoot Luis? And will Harchester actually win the Cup?

Don't forget the real FA Cup Finals! Sky Sports 2 has live coverage from Wembley Stadium, kicking off at 12noon on Saturday 22nd. And on Saturday 29th Sky Sports 3 has full coverage of the Scottish Cup Final. The live action starts at 2.00pm.

The 1999 Cable Guide Cable TV Awards

It was a night to remember for cable TV as a host of celebrities gathered at London's Grosvenor House Hotel to celebrate the second Cable Guide Cable TV Awards. The event, broadcast on L!VE TV, proved to be an illustrious occasion with a line up of top names from favourite TV channels that you, the readers of Cable Guide, had voted for. Presenting the awards were the effervescent Jenny Powell, winner of last year's favourite female personality award, and funny man Paul Ross. We'd like to say thank you to the thousands of readers who voted and made the event such a success. And this year's winners are:

Internet Lite.
No monthly fees. No strings.

With Internet Lite, trying out the Internet needn't be a big leap. It's a special service from Cable & Wireless designed to help you get good value from the Internet.

Unlike other ways of joining the Internet, there'll never be any monthly charges. After a one-off registration fee of £10, you only pay for the time you're actually using the Internet (which is charged at similar rates to a local phone call). If you're not on-line, you don't pay.

If you want to find out more about the amazing things the Internet has to offer, take a guided tour with our free CD-Rom. And if you like what you see, you can dive straight in and install Internet Lite there and then.

Shop till you drop off the sofa!

Calling all shoppers! Forget trawling your local high street for bargains, the way ahead is telly sales. Words: Clare Devane

PHOTOS: QVC, SHOP!, KALUZNY/THATCHER/TONY STONE IMAGES, PETER BEAVIS/TELEGRAPH COLOUR LIBRARY

PRESENTER Dave Bradford has just come off air. It's Tuesday afternoon in the QVC building and he's just finished a two-hour live stint selling a certain brand of jewellery. A consummate salesman, he looks the part: suave, bronzed and charming. In fact, he looks like a younger version of George Hamilton – all teeth and tan.

Two hours is a shorter stretch than usual for Dave; he's often on air for four hours. Jewellery is one of the many products he promotes – but he's very versatile and can pontificate on any given subject and produce a good sales return. He could perhaps even sell ice cream to the Eskimos.

He laughingly recalls that his debut appearance was a 'baptism of fire' – quite literally. He was demonstrating a new toaster and forgot that the paper instructions remained inside. 'Because we broadcast 17 hours of live TV a day, It'll Be Alright on the Night loves us!' he says. In fact, QVC boasts more live television hours than any other channel.

The atmosphere at QVC's monolithic headquarters in Chelsea is friendly. It's the nerve centre – not only filming takes place here but planning and buying, too. Their £14 million warehouse in Merseyside dispatches all the QVC endorsed swag. Of the regular presenters – of which there are 14 – most have become mini celebrities and receive fan mail from their audience. Then there are the biggers stars – Joan Rivers, Mr Motivator, Shakira Caine. Surprising names have cropped up on the QVC hall of fame: there's not only Lord Hurd but Lord Archer, too. And for those who have ever wondered what happened to the toothsome Marie Osmond, look no further.

QVC (which stands for Quality Value and Convenience) launched five years ago. Today it is hugely popular and available to over two-and-a-half million homes on cable – not to mention the potential of their own transactional internet site that launched last October (www.qvcuk.com.). The channel sells a huge mixture of things, from pots and pans to booty-clad, bonneted teddies. One of the advantages of devoting a couple of hours to a range of products is that every single detail is spelt out for the viewer, so customer returns are usually kept to a minimum. Add to that value for money and the ease of purchasing and shopping becomes irresistible.

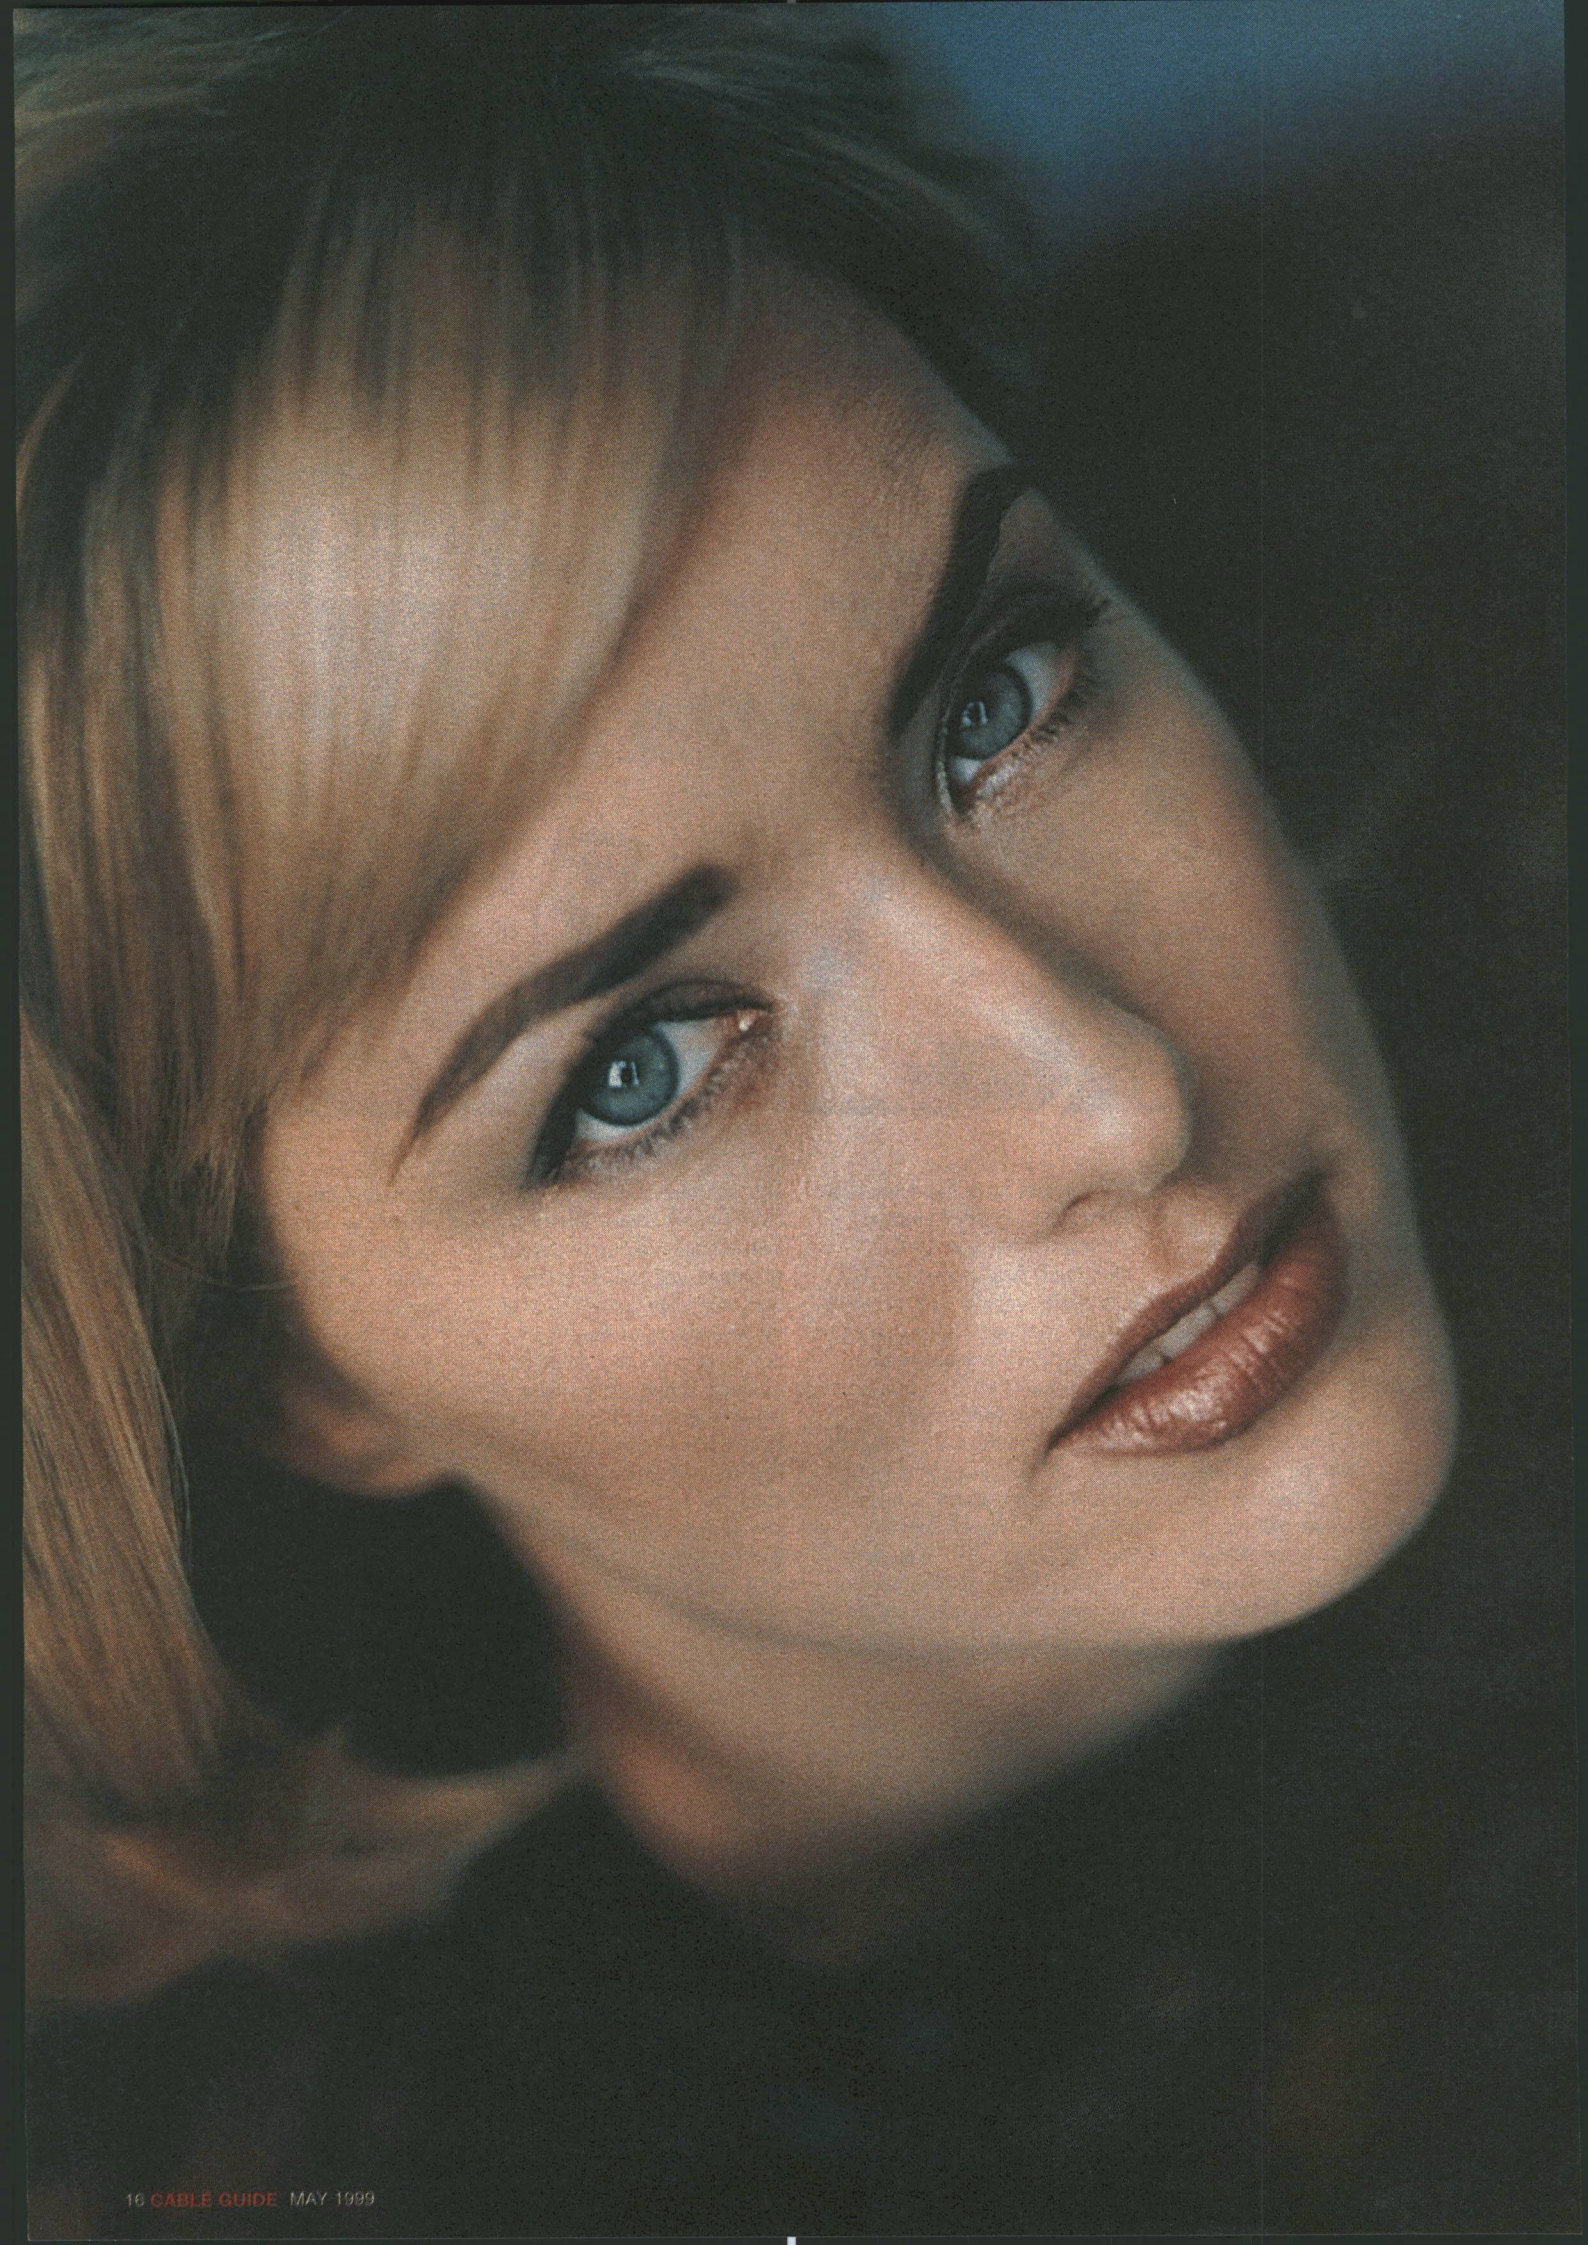
The beauty of the sales process is that while the presenters transmit live from the studio, a producer eyes a monitor that gives instant feedback on sales. This valuable information on whether an item is bombing or selling is conveyed to the presenter while they transmit. Add to that a team of planners who plot the daily programme schedules to maximise sales and you have a soaraway success.

The company, as you'd expect, has a substantial American heritage – 80% is owned by the American QVC and 20% by Sky. There is also a German QVC. However, unlike its hard-sell American sister, the UK relation is more reserved and, in that inimitable British way, terribly, terribly nice and polite.

QVC's success has inspired a rival channel, Shop! Owned by Littlewoods and Granada Media, the channel launched in December 1998 and aims to provide 'the High Street on TV'. The channel boasts a wide product range in TV shopping at low prices – including Adidas, Timberland and Black and Decker – as well as celebrity presenters like Anthea Turner and Julia Carling. Like QVC, it has also launched its own transactional website (www.shop-i.co.uk).

Looking ahead at industry forecasts for home shopping, the future seems bright. The broadcast/interactive market is forecast to grow to an estimated £1billion by 2002, and, by 2008, an estimated 14 million households will have digital TV. Shopping in the Millennium, it would seem, is definitely going to be sofa based.

One of Shop!'s best sellers for Christmas was the cute Furby critter and, dull but true, another winner for Shop! was the 3 in 1 Detector – for locating pipes in walls . In the last three months, QVC has sold a large number of wash balls, staple guns, arnica gel and hammer drills



Making an impact

She may be best known for being the wife of David Duchovny, but Hollywood is starting to sit up and take notice of actress Téa Leoni. Interview: Garth Pearce

TÉA LEONI realises that her husband, David Duchovny, is far more famous than she is. But as they celebrate their second wedding anniversary this month, with Leoni heavily pregnant, here is a tip. She could, one day, become the bigger name in Hollywood.

She graduated effortlessly from television to dominate the impressive film, Deep Impact. She stars as a sharp, sassy TV news reporter who thinks she's uncovered a political scandal in the White House, only to discover that the cover-up is much more terrifying – a giant comet is heading straight for Earth.

Vanessa Redgrave plays her mother; Maximilian Schell is her father. Robert Duvall, an Oscar nominee yet again in March for his role in Civil Action, plays the astronaut called out of retirement to attempt a planet-saving mission. And Morgan Freeman is the latest in a long line of heavy-weight actors to star as a beleaguered President of the United States.

The fact that Leoni can actually make audiences care about what happens to an ambitious reporter who stumbles on the world's most devastating story, amid a sea of lavish special effects, is a tribute to her considerable acting skills.

Bit parts in Penny Marshall's baseball movie, A League of Their Own, and Kevin Costner's epic, Wyatt Earp, were followed by scene-stealing roles as the distressed damsel rescued by Will Smith in Bad Boys and as dancer turned social worker in the 1996 screen comedy Flirting with Disaster, co-starring Ben Stiller.

But it was Steven Spielberg, executive producer of Deep Impact, who ensured that Leoni got the lead part, minus audition and screen test.

Sky Box Office 2

DEEP IMPACT FROM WEDNESDAY 12TH

'I don't know which is worse,' she observes. 'Having to go along for audition after audition, which is a ghastly process, or having to turn up on the first day of filming, knowing that when they see what you can or can't deliver, there is a chance of being fired or disgraced forever.'

Téa Leoni, 32, named after a Tahitian friend of her wealthy corporate lawyer father, does not look like the sort of woman to be unsettled in the slightest at such a prospect. She exudes the quiet confidence of the uptown girl she is, with unwavering, inquisitive blue eyes and a frankness that clearly swept the previously unmarried Duchovny off his feet.

They met and married after a whirlwind romance: 'I had not watched The X-Files at all, but from what I'd heard it did not make much sense,' says Leoni. 'Two FBI agents as attractive as Gillian Anderson and David working side by side every day and they hadn't even kissed? I did not buy that.

'But when he asked me out, I thought I had better watch this show so I can try to be intelligent at dinner about his life. I found David to be the most riveting of actors to watch in that he had a presence and was not bothered about having an obvious likability.

'After just a few weeks of going out, I was in the closet putting away some shoes and David suddenly asked: "Will you marry me?" I said "Yes," without even taking time to come out of the closet. It was amazing, because our mutual agent only arranged a date between us for no other reason than he thought it would be a good meeting of minds.'

Big news: Téa Leoni as investigative reporter Jenny Lerner in 'Deep Impact'

On that score, their relationship is a rarity indeed in Hollywood: clever minds, as well as good-looking bodies. Duchovny earned a master's degree in English Literature at Yale. Leoni, studied in Japan and Italy and was at one point set for Harvard and a degree course in anthropology.

Instead, as a dare, she attended a casting call by top producer Aaron Spelling in her native New York for the remaking of Charlie's Angels: 'Through luck, and not much else, I landed a job as an "angel",' she says. 'I was immediately moved to Los Angeles at their expense and was set up in an apartment.

'Then there was a writer's strike, plus disagreements between the Fox Network and Aaron Spelling, who owned the rights to Charlie's Angels, and the series was never made. So I got paid for doing no work. It was the best deal I've ever had.'

Virtually everything she has done since has attracted attention. A spot on a daytime soap, Santa Barbara, led to a comedy series, Flying Blind, and a straight role in a TV film, The Counterfeit Contessa. There was a failed marriage along the way to a director of television commercials, plus a relationship with Chris Thompson, who created a highly successful television sitcom series for her called The Naked Truth, which turned Leoni into a well-known face and name across America.

But it is her film future that now looks more enticing and her domestic set-up, with Duchovny and child, is unlikely to come between Leoni and success: 'I have always been ambitious,' she says. 'I am one of those people who has been brought up to believe that anything is possible.'

MY MOST MEMORABLE FIGHT

IAN DARKE, Sky Sports boxing commentator, tells Alex Leith about the night he was knocked out by 'Marvelous' Marvin Hagler.
WORLD MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP BETWEEN MARVIN HAGLER AND TOMMY HEARNS

'The World Middleweight Championship fight between Hagler and Hearns at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas in 1985 lasted just eight minutes, but it was the most furious, frenetic, chaotic eight minutes of boxing I've ever witnessed. The first round was the most exciting in the modern era – the two men were standing toe to toe and exchanging vigorous upper cuts and hooks with no attempt to evade or defend. I was sitting with the Sun's Colin Hart, a really talkative guy, and at the first break he was simply speechless. In the second, Hagler got a bad cut above his eye and he just angrily brushed the blood away with his glove. At the end of the round, referee Richard Steele asked [Hagler] if he could see all right and he said, "I ain't missing him, am I?" But Hagler realised he had to finish Hearns off in the third before the cut finished him off and he started sprinting after him, breaking him up with precise blows. Something had to go; eventually it was Hearns who, after a clutch of right hooks, started swaying like an oak in a hurricane. He beat the count but the referee waved it off. I've seen a lot of good fights, but I've never seen anything like that one. That night Hagler passed into the pantheon of history as one of the greats of boxing.'

NEWCASTLE GO FOR GLORY

ALAN SHEARER TELLS GERRY COX THAT NEWCASTLE WILL BE STRONGER IN THIS SEASON'S FA CUP FINAL

Alan Shearer struck both goals as Newcastle beat Tottenham 2-0 in their semi-final to book a repeat visit to Wembley. But unlike last May, when Newcastle were easily beaten by Arsenal, Shearer thinks this will be a different proposition.

He said: 'Last year's experience was good but this is tremendous. We want to win it for the fans, who have been tremendous, and we believe we can.'

The key for Newcastle could be Duncan Ferguson, who was injured shortly after his £7m transfer from Everton earlier this season. It meant a delayed start to the partnership manager Ruud Gullit hoped he would form with Shearer. Gullit said: 'Alan has been used to playing with a big target man and he's been missing that for a while. Les Ferdinand did it before he went, and then when we bought Duncan he got injured. But he makes a big difference.'

Shearer agrees: 'Duncan's presence enables me to pick up the pieces, rather than have me on my own fighting and scrapping against the big men. I'm willing to do that for the club that I love, but when big Duncan comes on he takes a lot of pressure off me and allows me to have more space. Hopefully he'll be fit for the final. He could well make the difference between us winning and losing. We hope we can make up for last year.'

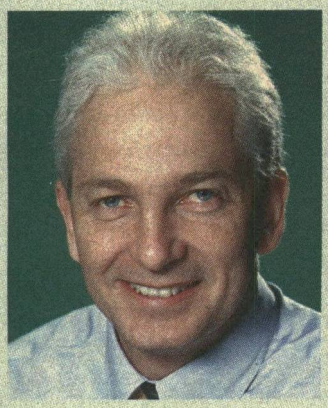
ENGLAND HOSTS CRICKET CARNIVAL

The ICC Cricket World Cup begins this month in England, and as David Gower tells Chris Hatherall, the home side has a chance of victory

PHOTOS: EMPICS, BSKYB



DAVID GOWER says England's hopes of World Cup glory rest on the shoulders of three key men: Darren Gough, Graeme Hick and coach David Lloyd.

Former England captain Gower, who presents Sky's coverage of the World Cup, will cheer the team on from his place in the commentary box. But he is realistic when it comes to tipping a winner.

'For me it's South Africa, Australia and maybe Pakistan if you were thinking of putting money on for the title,' he said. 'But at this stage it's difficult and England are in there, too.

'Betting on international cricket is a nightmare. Ian Botham does it – but that's the definition of a nightmare!

'Perhaps South Africa are the favourites but it's very, very close. By the time you get to the latter stages it takes just two men to perform well and you've cracked it.

'We're all very keen for England to do well. But we know full well for them to win it they will have to produce their best one-day international cricket for a long, long time.'

England's preparation has been affected by the decision of coach David Lloyd to step down after the tournament. Lloyd decided to quit after failing to get assurances about his long-term future. But Gower doesn't see a problem.

'I don't think David's decision will harm England's chances at all,' he said. 'Quite the opposite. David is the kind of man who will always be determined to win. He's brought unbounded enthusiasm to the job and there's nothing that he would like more than to finish on the highest possible note. He'll have this feeling that this is his last chance to leave a mark on English cricket.'

England open their challenge with a match against holders Sri Lanka at Lord's on Friday 14 May, and the final will be staged at the same venue on Sunday 20 June. 'England have to get their performance right in the opening game,' said Gower. 'It could set the tone for the rest of the tournament. Sri Lanka are the holders and thrashed the living daylights out of us in the last World Cup. There is a score there to be settled and it will be a good way to judge how well-prepared England are.'

If England are to succeed it is important that their key men play well.

Captain Alec Stewart will have a big responsibility, while star bowler Gough and big-hitting Hick must also find form.

'For our chances, Hick is a big man in every sense,' said Gower. 'If he fires with the bat then it gives us a chance of cruising on through.

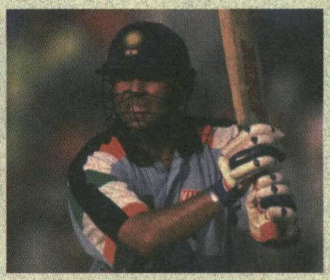
'But Goughy is the man. He personifies the spirit you want in any international player. In Australia this winter he had an unlucky start where catches kept being dropped but he kept going and the luck turned for him. He's had a great tour and a great winter and if England get him firing with the ball it will give them a real edge.'

DAVID GOWER'S MEN TO WATCH:

ADAM GILCHRIST (AUSTRALIA): 'He's not just a slogger. He's a proper batsman, a good, aggressive batsman with some tremendous shots. It can all be over quickly, but if he stays in as he did in Australia this winter then he can be very, very good.'

DARREN GOUGH (ENGLAND): 'He's the ideal international bowler and has tremendous heart. He is on the crest of a wave at the moment and he is vital for England.'

BRIAN LARA (WEST INDIES): 'His nosedive over the last couple of years has been incredible. But he managed to come out of that with a double hundred against Australia and he can still be a very key man. That knock was quite remarkable.'



SACHIN TENDULKAR (INDIA): 'He's the world's outstanding batsman as far as I am concerned. People expect so much from him but he never seems to be affected by it.'

The 1999 Cricket World Cup is the biggest ever and you will be bowled over by Sky Sports' coverage, which includes the opening match between the hosts England and the holders Sri Lanka live from Lord's (see listings on the left). The latter stages of the competition take place next month

THREE OF HIS FAVOURITE THINGS

In UK Arena's The First, The Last, My Everything, viewers are offered revealing insights into the psyches of a line-up of celebrities, who list their first, most recent and all-time favourite films, TV shows or records. In the editions that air this weekend, novelist Will Self (right) confronts his past with horror as he recalls the first record he bought, the 1971 choral power ballad Softly Whispering I Love You by The Congregation. He admits that when the programme-makers asked him about this formative experience he became 'hysterical because it lanced through ... all these protective veils of assumed cool to the true, beating, raw nugget of naffness'. The other platters that matter to Self are soulful reggae vocalist Freddie McGregor's Push Come to Shove and, his desert island disc, jazz saxophonist John Coltrane's Coltrane Plays the Blues. Actress Fiona Fullerton, meanwhile, remembers her first viewing experience as episode one of Doctor Who (which, she admits, appealed to her sense of the absurd), and says the programme she last found herself glued to was the BBC adaptation of Pride and Prejudice. But her idea of TV heaven is the classic Morecambe and Wise show in which Shirley Bassey guest-starred.

UK Arena from Saturday 1st 8.00pm

FUNNY MONEY

Like its helium-voiced star Chris Tucker, this week's Sky Box Office premier of Money Talks gets by largely on sheer brashness. The actor's bug-eyed mugging and screeching delivery may have been unbearable when applied to the arty, high-fashion opulence of Luc Besson's sci-fi epic The Fifth Element, but it seems to make perfect sense in this funky urban action comedy. After being shopped to the police by news-hungry TV reporter Charlie Sheen, hustler Tucker finds himself in the thick of a murderously violent breakout from a prison bus staged by the cronies of the French convict to whom he's handcuffed. He makes a death-defying escape from the gang (a ruthless diamond smuggling ring from which he later swipes a stash of priceless stones) but is wrongly accused of having been behind the bus massacre. Now America's most wanted, Tucker swallows his pride and turns to Sheen, who is due to be married at the weekend, to help him clear his name. While the movie occasionally affects an unnecessarily angry attitude, it still scores as an enjoyably rambunctious adventure.

Sky Box Office Wednesday 5th from 11.00pm

LAST SHOWDOWN AT CELTIC PARK

No league match north of the border inspires a similar degree of passion than the Old Firm derby between Glasgow arch-rivals Rangers and Celtic. Both teams have strong international contingents and, while the top-flight foreign players may have little concern for the historical importance of these meetings, they can still be counted upon to indulge in some aggressive and exciting play. This week, Dick Advocaat's Rangers take on the current Scottish Premiership champions in the clubs' last showdown of the season. Advocaat's side often appear to lack confidence when playing away to Jozef Venglos's Celtic and were subjected to a 5-1drubbing when they visited Celtic Park last November. However, they have led Celtic in the table for much of the season and minor upsets such as being beaten 1-0 by Dundee United haven't sapped their fighting spirit. With players such as Argentinian forward Gabriel Amato spearheading their offence, Rangers look a formidable team. But they should beware the attacking salvos of the home side's Swedish striker Henrik Larsson (pictured).

BRISTOL ROVERS V MANCHESTER CITY
SKY BOX OFFICE 3 5.30PM by Ross Biddiscombe

If you're a Manchester City fan, then the advent of pay-per-view football matches has given you the chance to see plenty of extra action. This match against Bristol Rovers could be a clincher for Joe Royle's young team in pursuit of a return to Division One through the play-offs. Shaun Goater's return to Bristol (although he was actually a City player) could give the Sky Blues an extra edge over Rovers who are looking to ex-QPR favourite Ian Holloway to lead them further up the Division Two table.

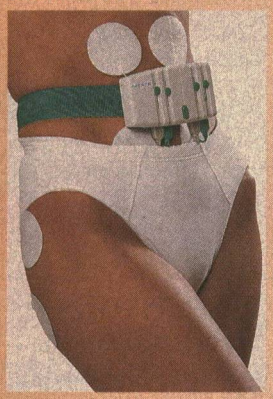
When it's time to work out, just relax.

Let Slendertone Body take the strain

The revolutionary Slendertone Body will firm and tone your figure while you just relax. 30 years of research and development bring you effective salon-style treatment in a lightweight, portable unit. And it's so easy to use in comfort and privacy at home, as often as you choose!



A streamlined figure in just 3 weeks!

With Slendertone Body, you can easily achieve a flatter tummy and shapelier bottom in just 3 weeks! It contracts and relaxes your muscles 240 times in only 40 minutes – imagine trying to do that number of sit-ups!

Maximum results, minimum effort

It's simple! Adjust the belt holding the small battery operated Slendertone Body unit around your waist, place the pads on the muscles to be exercised and switch on. Just sit back, relax and watch those muscles work. Or you can walk the dog, watch TV or whatever you choose.

Tried, tested and acclaimed by experts

Electronic Muscle Stimulation (EMS), used in Slendertone Body is developed from the pioneering work by Bio Medical Research, the manufacturers of Slendertone. Try this totally safe* and portable body beautifier and reap the benefits for years to come.

The easy way to pay

For the price of just a few trips to the gym, the complete Slendertone Body programme is yours to keep. Payment can be made in 3 easy monthly instalments of just £36 (including postage and packing).†

So order yours today – just call the credit card hotline on 0845 070 77 77 with your card details or complete the coupon below.

LIVE
ARSENAL v DERBY COUNTY
SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

This afternoon's action from Highbury sees current champions Arsenal take on Derby County in a crucial game. Despite injuries to Dennis Bergkamp earlier in the season and the continual suspension of Emmanuel Petit, Arsène Wenger's side have a good chance of bringing a second successive title to north London, largely thanks to Nicolas Anelka's goals, and they are still on course for the double. But Jim Smith's Derby would like to avenge their FA Cup quarter-final defeat.

HEARTS V DUNFERMLINE
SKY SPORTS 1 5.00PM

Who'd be a Hearts supporter? The very team that beat Rangers in last year's Scottish cup final have had an awful season. Jim Jefferies's team is in real trouble despite making major signings including Darren Jackson from Celtic. It would be ironic if rivals Hearts were replaced in the Premier League by Hibernian who look assured of the Division One championship. Tonight, the Edinburgh team plays fellow strugglers Dunfermline in what is a classic six-pointer.

LIVE
LIVERPOOL V MANCHESTER UNITED
SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

With the title-race nearing its climax this fixture will be more hotly contested than usual. The state of the rivalry between Liverpool and Manchester United is hard to describe outside the north-west. It's not the usual derby match of crosstown combatants playing for a city's bragging rights. For many fans this is much more important. United have ruled Liverpool in the 90s, but the Merseysiders remember the previous two decades of ascendancy and won't be happy until it returns.

Sensational ★★★ Stimulating ★★ Satisfactory ★

Taurus
21 April-21 May ★★★

YOUR birthday month promises to be fanciful and fortuitous. Some of you can expect a heartfelt dream to come true, while others look forward to a lucky encounter. Someone who crosses your path could become a permanent fixture.

Gemini
22 May-21 June ★★

BY laying the groundwork now, you'll reap the rich rewards in the second half of the year. You may have to forego some of life's little pleasures this month, but rest assured that the end will justify the means.

Cancer
22 June-23 July ★★

WITH Mars acting as a catalyst, you'll either break with tradition or drastically alter your lifestyle. Yours is not normally an aggressive sign, but this plucky planet provokes you to act on impulse and speak your mind.

Leo
24 July-23 August ★

SATURN at an awkward angle tests your patience and puts pressure on your love life. Yours is usually a fun-loving sign, but this month your serious side is highlighted. Stay close to home base and mix with familiar people.

Virgo
24 August-23 September ★★★

IT'S full speed ahead this month, especially in the areas of love and money. For some of you, romance will take an unexpected turn, while for others, the lure of an investment or new venture will be too good to resist.

Libra
24 September-23 October ★★

REACHING your chosen goal has been difficult, but you can't fault friends and loved ones who've thrown their weight behind you. Take the focus off yourself this month and pay tribute to those who've shown great loyalty.

Scorpio
24 October-22 November ★★★

THE SUN and Saturn in your marriage house suggest a new love or long-term commitment is on the cards. Either way, you can expect to feel more emotionally fulfilled in the months ahead than you have for many years.

Sagittarius
23 November-22 December ★★

JUPITER'S domination of your pleasure zone guarantees good times, but warns against excess. There'll be a fine line this month between enjoyment and over-indulgence, and it's up to you to find just the right balance.

Capricorn
23 December-20 January ★★★

MERCURY moves into your social sector for a couple of weeks, sending your popularity soaring and engendering goodwill. Not only will you have a way with words, but you'll use them very wisely to charm others.

Aquarius
21 January-19 February ★★

YOUR heart may be in the right place this month, but it looks as if your timing will be a fraction out. Don't despair if first attempts fail – because the wheel of fortune will soon turn in your favour and encourage you to try again.

Pisces
20 February-20 March ★★

THOSE searching for true love should look beyond their own backyard. Your stars suggest a temptation to settle for second best in affairs of the heart, simply because you're afraid to step outside your comfort zone.

Aries
21 March-20 April ★★

SOUTH LONDON BLUES

A sweating, screaming hulk in a horrific drunken rage bites a youth's nose. A solitary tear runs down the cheek of the same youngster after he's inhaled heroin in a police cell. These are just two of the many indelibly powerful moments in actor Gary Oldman's astonishing, passionately assembled directorial debut Nil By Mouth – an angrily authentic slice of life that focuses on a south east London family whose members are struggling to cope with drug addiction, alcoholism and domestic violence. The rough-hewn camerawork and abrasive editing combine to lend an oppressive immediacy to the film; the situations are played out with dauntless conviction by a fantastic cast, who bring a believable sense of history to their roles. Kathy Burke deservedly scooped a best actress award at the Cannes Film Festival for her portrayal of battered wife Valerie. But excellent as she is (and she has a touching speech towards the end that brilliantly showcases her talents), the film is dominated by Ray Winstone as the bitter, booze-bloated bully Raymond. He injects a terrifying ferocity into his role, ripping himself emotionally raw in an Oscar-calibre performance of incredible intensity. Raymond is at the centre of the bluntest and most shocking scenes but he is still drawn with the same sensitivity and compassion as the more sympathetic characters, with Winstone striking a particularly poignant chord in the moving monologue that gives the film its name, where he reminisces about his uncaring, alcoholic dad. And is there a sadder, more lonely sight in cinema than the simple but hugely affecting shot of Raymond drinking away his day in a deserted pub? While the film's tone is, for the most part, mercilessly bleak, it it lightened by moments of earthy wit and at its conclusion Oldman allows a faint ray of hope to filter through the darkness. An unadorned, dirt-under-the-fingernails drama, Nil By Mouth is harrowing and often uncomfortable to watch, but stay the gruelling distance and you'll be rewarded with the most honest film to come out of Britain in years and one that boasts a genuine human warmth that's often lacking in glossier offerings.

AFRICAN QUEEN

In Wildlife Vet, actress Alicia Silverstone trades the figure-hugging outfit she wore while playing Batgirl alongside George Clooney in Batman & Robin for the sort of rugged attire that's suitable for the sun-baked plains of south east Africa. The Hollywood star, who recently appeared opposite Brendan Fraser in Blast from the Past, accompanies roving animal doctor Dave Jessup on his crusade to save the planet's endangered species. The programme finds them in Zimbabwe, where the national park's male elephant population is being slowly wiped out by floppy trunk disease. This terrible condition leaves the affected elephant's unable to pick up food; if untreated they ultimately starve to death. A cure has yet to be found for this mysterious illness and Silverstone teams up with Jessup in a bid to learn more about it.

WORLD CUP CRICKET'S COMING HOME

After a 15-year hiatus, World Cup Cricket makes its eagerly anticipated return to England. The tournament, which is being aptly billed as a 'carnival of cricket', aims to shake up the sport and hopefully attract new fans by injecting some pace, energy and excitement into its one-day, 50-over matches. Players trade their traditional white flannels for vibrant team colours and the ball itself is an easy-to-spot white. The world's top cricketing nations, as well as such less likely sides as Scotland, will be competing for the first prize of $300,000. The teams have been divided into two seeded groups and Friday's opening match is a Group A clash, with England (whose Darren Gough is pictured) taking on current champions Sri Lanka at Lord's.

A unique shamrock-shaped collector plate bears acclaimed artist Hilary Scoffield's breathtaking cottage art inscribed with a beloved blessing for your home.

Actual size of plate is 8¼" (20.9 cm) x 7½" (19 cm). Plate stand not included.

A cosy thatched-roof cottage surrounded by nature's splendour. The front door opens and you are welcomed home, amidst the smell of freshly-baked bread and the sound of children's laughter.

This is the enchanting scene captured on a truly unique, shamrock-shaped collector plate created by Hilary Scoffield. And to add to its enduring charm, the work is inscribed with a treasured blessing, May Nothing But Happiness Come Through Your Door. In the tradition of the most prized collectables, this heirloom collector plate is crafted in fine porcelain and lavished with breathtaking colour. It is hand-numbered and bordered with 22 carat gold. Each plate, priced at just £24.50, bears the artist's signature mark on its reverse side.

This Signature Edition collector plate is available exclusively from Franklin Mint.

M'BROUGH V MANCHESTER UNITED
SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

In December, Bryan Robson's battling Middlesbrough went to Old Trafford and shocked the home side with a victory, so today's return match offers Manchester United a chance for revenge. A pulsating 3-3 draw against Boro two years ago was enough to clinch the championship, and success today will dramatically increase United's chances of a fifth Premiership title in seven seasons. Boro had better beware of United's deadly duo – Andy Cole and Dwight Yorke.

LIVE
TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR V CHELSEA
SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

If tonight's live game between Tottenham and Chelsea at White Hart Lane is a title decider for the men from Stamford Bridge, then who better to stand in their way than George Graham who won't want another London club winning what he considers is his team's ultimate aim. There will be so much skill and strength on show including Gianfranco Zola and Sol Campbell – that any Spurs fan or neutral can watch and simply enjoy. Chelsea fans will no doubt be biting their nails for a vital win.

A premiere starring Rebecca De Mornay as a con artist who manages to wed the geeky guy at the local gas station, played by the wonderful William H Macy. It's all part of Rebecca's bid to scam a share of a lucrative inheritance William is about to receive.

GENERAL

Twin Peaks
Sci-Fi 9.00pm
The investigation continues into the death of Twin Peaks resident Laura Palmer. It's bizarre, it's fascinating and it's David Lynch's TV triumph. Weird characters keep getting in the way as Kyle MacLachlan tries to find out who killed the town's homecoming queen.

LIVE
LEEDS UNITED V ARSENAL
SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

A visit to Elland Road these days is no picnic as David O'Leary has continued to build on and improve his predecessor George Graham's great work. An influx of young stars combined with established players like Jimmy Floyd Hasselbaink has kept Leeds near the sharp end of the Premier League. For the Gunners, solidarity at the back from the likes of David Seaman and Tony Adams will make it difficult for Leeds to maintain their strong run towards the end of the season.

POWER CABLE THE YOUNG PERSON'S GUIDE TO WHAT'S ON THIS MONTH

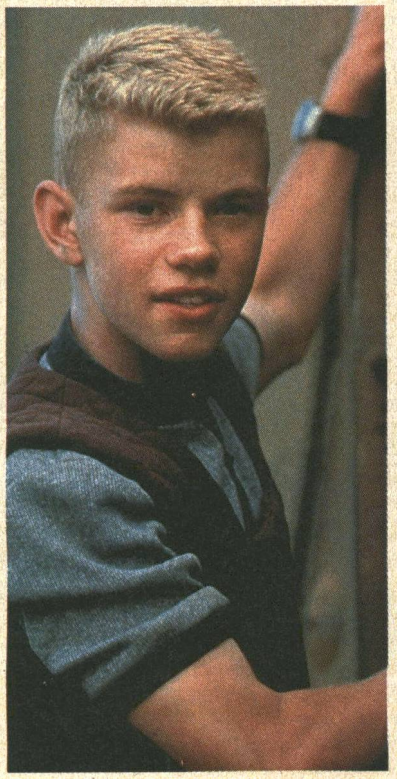
Little Monsters

Welcome to the wonderful world of Pokémon, where young Ash Ketchum strives to be a Pokémon master and battles it out with other trainers to catch the incredible creatures that share his world. Ash's very own Pokémon (the name means Pocket Monsters) is the yellow, and highly charged, Pikachu. But there are 150 varieties of these wild animals and each one has a character and ability all of its own. Team Rocket are the evil pair of Pokémon trainers who are determined to beat Ash to the rarest creatures – and capture Pikachu. This Japanese animated series was born out of the success of the Nintendo video game launched three years ago. The game sold an amazing 12.5 million copies in Japan, and the TV series has gone on to become the top-rated kids show on US TV. Whether they be Sandshrew, Exeggutor or Ninetales, you gotta catch 'em all!

Pokémon, Sky One, weekdays 8.00am, weekends 9.30am

Pokémon trainers, L-R, Misty, Ash and Brock, with Pikachu – the Pokémon with a 10,000 volt blast!

Featured on the page this month are just some of the hundreds of jokes that you have been sending in to our Just for Laughs competition. Winners of the ten Disney Channel Toy Story goodie bags will be announced in the June issue. Meanwhile, keep giving us the giggles and send in more jokes!



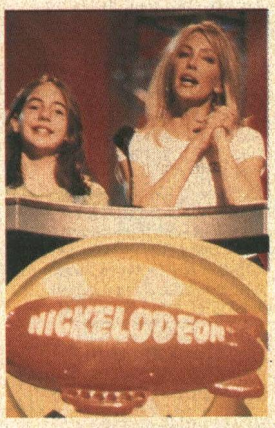
21st-century travels

It is 2020 and the massive Nemesis Comet has struck earth, leaving it a frozen wasteland. No animals or vegetation have survived. Underground, adventurous 15-year-old Noah Daniels (Jeffrey Walker, left) lives with his family in the community of North Col. Noah's natural curiosity draws him to investigate a Hologramatic Virtual Reality Device, and in doing so he finds himself transported to 2085 and a place called Haven. There he meets a young group of Nomads, confronts the evil warlord Tao and discovers the ability to travel back in time and transport animals who can once again inhabit the earth's landscape. It all happens in the new series Thunderstone – a fascinating tale of discovery with many twists along the way. So, set your watches for Saturdays and Sundays at 12.20pm on Disney Channel and tune in to time travel with a difference.

Q: What do you call a fish with no eyes?
A: fsh (from Tina Croucher, Tolworth, Surrey)

Q: How do you contact a spider?
A: Through the World Wide Web (from Jamie Davies, Newcastle)

THE CHOICE IS YOURS ...



An action-packed show chock full of celebrities awaits you at the Nickelodeon Kids Choice Awards in Los Angeles. Heather Locklear, near left, was one of the stars attending last year's ceremony, so tune in to find out who wins this year's awards for Favourite TV Actress and Actor, Favourite Movie, and Favourite Group, among a multitude of other highlights. New for 1999 is the category of Favourite UK Celebrity, voted for by kids all over the British Isles. Will David Beckham be pipped to the post, will Boyzone's Ronan Keating hit number one, or will Michael Owen reign supreme? Switch on to the Nickelodeon Kids Choice Awards on Sunday 30th, 5.00pm, where the kids have made all the choices!

TALES FROM THE PREMIERSHIP: ON A SHOESTRING
SKY SPORTS 3 3.00PM

We take a look at Wimbledon and Queens Park Rangers, two clubs who are forced to sell their best players in order to survive. The programme looks at how the Dons have held their own among the big clubs. In contrast, QPR lost their battle to stay among the elite in 1996 and have struggled in Division One. Hear from the men who perform heroics at Selhurst Park, (which they share with south London neighbours Crystal Palace), together with the QPR boys at Loftus Road.

LIVE MERCEDES SUPER 9, ROME
EUROSPORT 3.15PM, 6.30PM

Coming so close to the French Open, this Super 9 Tournament from Rome will feature most of the top male players. Since it began in 1930 as the Italian International Championship, this event has been won mostly by clay-court specialists until Pete Sampras broke that run in the modern era in 1994. A repeat victory by last year's winner Marcelo Rios is a distinct possibility. It was the red-hot Chilean's third Super 9 title of the season, a feat which had only previously been achieved four times.

LIVE
ENGLAND V SRI LANKA
SKY SPORTS 1 9.30AM, 3.00PM

It's the opening match in the most important cricket tournament in England since 1983. Today's live match from Lord's pits holders Sri Lanka, who boast top batsman Aravinda de Silva, against hosts England with the spectacle of the opening ceremony included. Alec Stewart leads England out against the side they lost to in Australia in the winter. Let's hope that the likes of Graeme Hick, Darren Gough, Angus Fraser et al are on form and that Sri Lanka are slow to start for once.

FACE TO FACE

Inventive references to the bullet ballets of influential Hong Kong action stylist John Woo can be spotted in such varied movies as True Romance and the high-spirited pirate romp Cutthroat Island. His filmography boasts a number of genuine genre classics, and The Killer and Hard-Boiled rate among the most exhilarating action-adventures ever committed to film. But Woo's admirers began to find it difficult to keep faith with the director after his first two Hollywood efforts, Hard Target and Broken Arrow. By Woo's standards, both films were extremely disappointing: the directorial flamboyance that elevated his early Asian outings was compromised beyond all recognition and his oft-copied visual trademarks – the slow-motion, two-fisted shoot outs and the up-front-and-personal stand-offs – looked like they'd been lazily trotted out. For a while it seemed as though the young film-makers he'd inspired could make a better John Woo movie than the man himself. But along came the epic Face/Off, which blasts its way onto Sky Premier screens, and Woo's status as the undisputed master of skilfully mounted mayhem was re-established. Reuniting with Woo, Broken Arrow's John Travolta starts the film playing Sean Archer, an obsessive FBI agent who takes undercover investigation to the limit to locate a hidden bomb: he trades his face for that of his seemingly half-dead enemy Castor Troy (Nicolas Cage), a maniacal supercriminal who killed Archer's son with a bullet meant for the agent. He infiltrates the prison where Troy's brother is incarcerated in the hope that he will divulge the whereabouts of the device. But Troy makes a miraculous recovery, appropriates Archer's face and, after destroying all the evidence about the identity swap, defuses the bomb in a display of mock heroics. The real Archer is now faced with the tall order of escaping from jail, convincing his wife that, while he looks like the killer of their child, he is, in fact, her husband, then dispatching Troy and reclaiming his face.

SOCCER SOAP FINALE

Sky One's soccer soap Dream Team has earned deserved acclaim and a huge following thanks to its attention to the authentic details of the day-to-day running of a Premiership football team and the players' antics on and off the pitch. Excellent performances and some sleight-of-hand camera work, which allows Harchester United, the series' fantasy football team, to take on genuine top-league clubs, combine to blur fact and fiction. This week's two hour-long specials, which provide a suitably thrilling climax to the series, see Harchester descend on Wembley to face Manchester United in the FA Cup Final. Can the players put their problems behind them and pull together to win?

GET YOUR MOTOR RUNNING ...

Armchair speed freaks are assured plenty of rubber-burning action as Eurosport continues its coverage of the Motorcycling Grand Prix. The championship moves from the Spanish circuit in Jerez de la Frontera to its fourth leg in Le Castellet, France. Italian rider Max Biaggi will be aiming to steal veteran Aussie champ Mick Doohan's 500cc title, while Britain's Jeremy McWilliams (pictured) is contending for the crown in Biaggi's former category, 250cc.

Oh bother! A little rain can be a bit dampish when you're out for an adventure, but "Just a Small Piece of Weather" never spoiled anybody's fun - especially when you're in the company of good friends and true!

Now, if rain were honey, Winnie the Pooh and his friends would be much happier. But rain is rain, and all they can do is be like the water lilies and wait for the rain to stop.

"It's Just a Small Piece of Weather" is presented in scrumptious bas-relief in a unique honeypot shape, and crammed with delightful details. From the splash of raindrops to the amber honey slowly making its way down the side of the pot, "It's Just a Small Piece of Weather" is a delight to behold - from every angle.

"It's Just a Small Piece of Weather" is the first plate in the Pooh's Hunnypot Adventures collection. Individually hand-cast and painted entirely by hand, each plate is a unique treasure in its own right - no two plates are identical. Plates are individually numbered and accompanied by a corresponding Certificate of Authenticity.

Plates will be issued at approximately monthly intervals, enabling you to build your own Pooh's Hunnypot Adventures collection easily and affordably. To order your collection - fully backed by The Bradford Exchange 365-day buy-back guarantee - simply complete the Priority Order Form and post it today.

*Readers of this advertisement are asked to respond within 14 days. These plates are made by traditional methods - please allow 28 days for delivery. Offer applies UK only and is subject to availability.

"Tweet Dreams"

Introducing the first collectable porcelain doll from Warner Bros. and The Ashton-Drake Galleries

LOONEY TUNES

Tweety thinks this adorable baby girl and her fine feathered friend are 'incwedibly iwesistible'!

Naptime, playtime, any time of the day at all; this baby likes to have her favourite yellow blanket on hand! It isn't the colour she likes so much as the tiny canary prominently featured at all four corners. While she's too young to enjoy cartoons, she's already old enough to love Tweety!

And no wonder - Tweety's appeal to the young and the young-at-heart is timeless. Now Warner Bros. little yellow dynamo is featured with a brand new collectable doll from The Ashton-Drake Galleries called "Tweet Dreams".

Artist Alex Tsalikhin has created a sweet and cuddly hand-crafted porcelain baby doll, curled up on her beloved blanket. Tweety himself pops up cheerfully from behind clusters of heart shaped appliques. And while his young friend slumbers, he'll keep his eye out for rascally black-and-white cats!

RETURN YOUR ORDER FORM TODAY!

You can welcome "Tweet Dreams" into your home for just £49.98 (plus p&p). But you need SEND NO MONEY NOW. Simply complete and return the Order Form below, or call the order hotline on 0800 980 5333; we will contact you when your doll is ready for despatch. HOW THE LEAGUE WAS WON
SKY SPORTS 1 12.30PM

There's nothing better than a look back over a whole football season. It's like your own video record of events with all the best action in one show. The 1998/99 Premier League title race was fascinating because at one point in the New Year there were still four teams with a real chance – Aston Villa, Arsenal, Manchester United and Chelsea. But as Villa faded, the three-horse race became one of the most exciting in years as an exciting young Leeds United side also made a late surge.

Hey, Good Looking! What you got Cooking?

You are what you eat, so they say, so if you tuck into fish and chips every day, you have been warned! Promoting healthy living is Liz Earle – prolific and award-winning writer of health and beauty books – who'll be presenting a new series called the A-Z of Food and Beauty on Carlton Food Network this month. The series looks at all aspects of health and beauty and examines what part food has to play in relation to them. Each week healthy bunny Liz will be joined by a variety of guests including doctors, beauticians, alternative therapists and food/health writers. From Tuesday 4th 1.30pm, repeats Wednesdays and Sundays

Il Mio Tiramisu

Preparation time: 25 minutes
Serves: 4-5

250g (10oz) mascarpone
250ml (10floz) of whipping cream
4 tbsp of sugar
2 egg yolks
300ml (12floz) espresso coffee
1 wine glass of Amaretto
1 packet of Italian sponge fingers
unsweetened cocoa powder

Mauro Bregoli's 13-part series An Umbrian Kitchen on Carlton Food Network takes you on a gastronomic tour of the region. The programme showcases mouthwatering traditional Umbrian dishes and includes special reports from the surrounding area. Thursdays, from 20th, 2.00pm; repeats Sundays 3.30pm

Despite its ubiquitous appearance on menus, it's still everybody's favourite dessert!

1 Whip the mascarpone, cream and sugar together until they have a stiff consistency, then fold in the egg yolks.

2 Mix the coffee and Amaretto together and lightly dip the sponge fingers into the liquid, then layer the bottom and side of a large dish with them.

3 Sprinkle a good layer of cocoa powder onto the sponge fingers and then fill the dish with the mascarpone mix.

4 Cover the top with another layer of sponge fingers dipped in coffee and Amaretto, then pour the remaining coffee mix over the top. This tiramisu is made for spooning and not cutting and it is best left overnight in a refrigerator before serving.

X-FILES ANSWERS AND QUESTIONS

'THE TRUTH IS REVEALED' promised the trailers for The X-Files movie last summer. In part it was – we had final confirmation that there really was an alien invasion of Earth planned, that the Conspiracy who met in the brownstone apartment in New York really was up to no good, and that FBI agents Fox Mulder and Dana Scully's investigations over the past five years weren't pointless. But it left audiences worldwide wanting more. So finally, after five-and-a-half years, the truth about the aliens' plans for Earth are revealed in the major two-part X-Files episode, Two Fathers, to be shown on Sunday 16th, and One Son, broadcast a week later. This two-parter features the return of all the familiar faces from the previous Conspiracy episodes, including Nicholas Lea's Alex Krycek, the FBI agent who turned bad and tried to kill Mulder, the Cigarette Smoking Man, his son Jeffrey Spender and the young agent's mother, Cassandra, last seen on a ridge that was under attack by the aliens. It took America by storm as we learn what happened to Fox Mulder's sister all those years ago. It's also worth watching for the quite incredible make-up used for flashback sequences to 1973, as we see the Conspiracy making its deadly deal. This doesn't mean the end of The X-Files by any means. Every time a question is answered on the show, another turns up to take its place, and that's equally true now. But series creator Chris Carter has promised that 'the truth is out there' and he plans to make good on that promise.

Sky One, Sunday 16th and 23rd, 9.00pm

RAVEN MAD

Catch The Raven while you can. Although the Highlander sequel series has achieved good ratings on the Sci-fi Channel, its producers are not at all certain about financing a second series of the show, which stars Elizabeth Gracen as Amanda and Paul Johannsen as her partner, Nick.

ANGEL SPREADS HIS WINGS

Buffy fans take heart. Not only is the series returning to Sky soon, but a spin-off show starts up in America this autumn. Angel follows Buffy's lover as he moves to Los Angeles, accompanied by Charisma Carpenter's Cordelia Chase, who may be dead! Guest appearances by villains Spike and Drusilla, as well as by Buffy and her friends, are promised.

TIME MACHINE

V 1984-85, 19 episodes. Starring: Jane Badler (Diana), June Chadwick (Lydia), Jennifer Cooke (Elizabeth), Robert Englund (Willie), Faye Grant (Dr Julie Parrish, pictured).

Another alien race had plans for Earth in the 15-year-old series V. Supposedly coming in peace, these lizard-like aliens wanted Earth because it was rich in a resource that their own planet sorely lacked – water. Starting life as a mini series and broadcast in Britain during the 1984 Olympics, V drew many parallels with the rise of Nazism in Europe in the 1930s. Where the Jews were the principal victims in history, here it was the scientists who are made the scapegoats and eliminated so the aliens can carry out their plans. The mini series spawned a sequel, in which the aliens' plans appeared to be defeated with the help of a human/alien hybrid, the Starchild Elizabeth. The idea of an alien-controlled Earth and the adventures of the human resistance to the conquerors was irresistible to Hollywood, and a series followed in which Los Angeles was a neutral city. The series revamped itself a couple of times during its short run but never captured the imagination in the way the original had. Watch out for Jane Badler's scene-stealing performance as alien leader Diana – one of the best female villains since Blake's 7's Servalan.

GENERAL

Carnal Knowledge
Challenge TV 12midnight
Almost every channel seems to have its own couples show and this is one of the better ones. It's a quiz show that claims to rip open the bedroom curtains of the British public. But the best part is camp co-host Graham Norton who's as funny as anything on TV at the moment.

DEUTSCHE BANK OPEN
SKY SPORTS 3 9.30AM, 2.00PM

This year's Deutsche Bank Open may well be memorable for the European Tour debut of Tiger Woods (left). The young man who has set golf alight has decided to visit the beautiful St Leon Rot Golf Club, Heidelberg, where many of Europe's finest will line up against him. Colin Montgomerie, Ian Woosnam and Costantino Rocca all challenged last year, but it was England's Lee Westwood (right) who came through the pack to take the title. The tournament purse is 1,680,00 euros.

THEY'RE ON THEIR WAY TO WEMBLEY

With its infectious carnival atmosphere, the FA Cup Final is soccer's equivalent of the Grand National and inspires a sense of excitement and anticipation in even devout non-football fans. And this Saturday, Manchester United and Newcastle United trot onto the hallowed turf at Wembley to battle it out in the last Cup Final of the millennium. If the semi-finals were enough to go by, Saturday's match will be a real nail-biter. The Magpies went through against Spurs by virtue of two extra-time goals – one from the penalty spot – from skipper Alan Shearer (above right), and United qualified thanks to a winning goal of genuine brilliance by Ryan Giggs, who sprinted from the half-way line and nimbly dribbled around five Gunners before finally driving home the ball.

Sky Sports 2 Saturday 22nd 12noon – LIVE

THE MOST DANGEROUS GAME

A dark and deviously scripted thriller, this week's Sky Premier debut of The Game stakes out similarly disturbing territory to director David Fincher's previous film, the nerve-fraying serial killer smash Se7en. Set in a foreboding, alien-looking San Francisco, this two-hour shaggy dog story stars Michael Douglas as powerful, icily aloof businessman Nicholas Van Orton. On his birthday, Van Orton's wayward brother (Sean Penn) buys him a gift certificate for CRS, a mysterious entertainment service that specialises in custom-designed yuppie role playing games. Van Orton grudgingly signs up and has his obsessively ordered life transformed into an inescapable waking nightmare, with the game's scenarios becoming increasingly cruel, creepy and downright dangerous. The sheer audacious unpredictability of The Game helps it withstand comparisons to several classics of paranoid cinema, with Martin Scorsese's After Hours, Roman Polanski's Frantic and the Dutch thriller The Vanishing all being obvious inspirations. The producing-writing double act of John D Brancato and Michael Ferris delight in disrupting our expectations with their relentless tumble of twist upon perversely imaginative twist. An unsettling atmosphere of isolation and dreamlike irrationality pervades the proceedings and Van Orton's struggle to maintain a grip on reality is deftly conveyed by Douglas, who helps to inject a running-scared energy into the film. Fincher sustains a nervy tempo throughout and underscores the movie's suspense by drawing our attention to such strangely foreboding details as the burning price tag on a lamp, the discovery of which hurls Van Orton into a particularly hellish series of events.

Sky Premier Saturday 29th 10.00pm

THE KING OF COOL

Thanks to his rugged, icy-eyed good looks and the contemplative and violent characters he often portrayed, Steve McQueen, who is celebrated this week in a Biography programme on The History Channel, became the quintessential cinematic anti-hero of his era. Off-screen, former reform school boy McQueen was a no-nonsense tough guy prone to angry outbursts, so perhaps it is hardly surprising that he would turn in some of his finest work for such hard man directors as Don Siegel (the World War II movie Hell Is for Heroes) and Sam Peckinpah (the elegiac rodeo-themed drama Junior Bonner and the crime thriller The Getaway). After playing the hero in the 1958 cult sci-fi flick The Blob, the actor starred in the popular television Western Wanted: Dead or Alive. The film in which audiences really began to notice him, though, was the ensemble saddle saga The Magnificent Seven (1960), directed by John Sturges, with whom he had worked on the Frank Sinatra vehicle Never So Few. Sturges rewarded McQueen with his most fondly remembered part as the rebellious Hilts, 'The Cooler King', in the 1963 pub quiz favourite The Great Escape. (Interestingly, Charles Bronson, another old school action icon, appeared in the same three Sturges films.) But McQueen's essay in mod cool as the obsessive cop in Peter Yates's police procedural Bullitt, which plays on Sky Cinema on Thursday, is generally considered to be his career-best performance, though the deftness of his characterisation is often unfairly overlooked by admirers of the film's incredible car chase – still the bench-mark by which all such sequences are measured.

Comedy drama. Text 1995, rating Sky PG, DS 104 mins

3.00 Michael
John Travolta, Andie MacDowell
Comedy about Michael, a thoroughly modern angel. When Michael appears, he becomes the focus of two jaded journalists and a self-proclaimed 'angel expert'. While Frank and Dorothy struggle to prove that he is no angel, Michael sets to work on making them fall in love. Text 1996, rating Sky PG, 101 mins

5.00 Fly Away Home
Jeff Daniels, Anna Paquin
Family drama. A girl is reunited with her father. She finds it hard to adjust, and spends her time looking after abandoned goose eggs until they hatch. When it becomes clear that the geese must migrate, her father builds a flying machine on which they will lead the geese to warmer climes. Text 1996, rating Sky U, 103 mins

7.00 Bean
Rowan Atkinson, Peter MacNicol
Comedy. The inept Mr Bean is travelling to America as an art expert, looking after a painting as it is transported from Britain to a Los Angeles museum. But Bean is no art expert and his trip was a ploy by his employers to get rid of him. Unfortunately, no one has warned the Americans. Text 1997, rating Sky PG, 85 mins

Beastie feast

Enjoy a top night in with mad, bad and dangerous white rap trio, The Beastie Boys. MTV is dedicating a whole night to the raucous triumvirate – currently in Britain for a sell-out tour. The evening will showcase some never-seen-before specials and documentaries in their honour, as well as a live broadcast of the boys as they perform in Scotland where you can catch them reeling off tracks from their current album Hello Nasty. Kicking off the evening in true MTV style is Celebrity Deathmatch where the Beastie Boys are pitted against junior popsters The Backstreet Boys with disastrous consequences. Beastie Boys Night, MTV, Sunday 2nd from 9.00pm

Ones to watch ... VH1's Movie Soundtracks Weekend looks at the best music from the silver screen over the last 30 years. Tap your toes to tunes from Saturday Night Fever to Robin Hood, and City of Angels to Grease (Saturday 8th and Sunday 9th) ... A must for all aspiring film makers, MTV reveals the truth about making a video in Exposed: Music Video Secrets. Featuring in the programme are Aerosmith, The Fugees, Radiohead and many more (Thursday 5th, 12midnight) ... Finally, VH1 looks at the music of mad-for-it Manchester and the North-West. As well as specials from the Mad-chester scene, there's a special concert featuring former Inspiral Carpets roadie Noel Gallagher and his fellow Burnage boys, Oasis (Thursday 13th, 9.00pm).

Here's our pick of 20 of the hottest tracks on The Box this month. To make your request, dial the number on screen, then key in the code for the video of your choice

THAT WAS THE DECADE THAT WAS ...

As part of its millennium schedule, MTV's 9 Days that Rocked the 90s focuses on nine events that influenced, and in some cases redefined the music of the decade. The one-hour specials, to be screened throughout the year, will treat you to an array of artists and events that changed the face of music in the Nineties. We've picked out a few seminal moments from the decade that the series will be featuring ...

23 August 1991

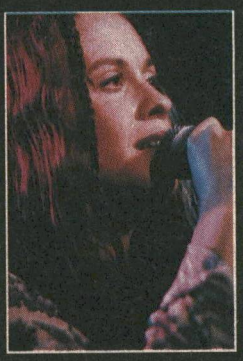
When Nirvana took to the stage at the Reading Festival it marked the birth of UK grunge. Nirvana's album, Nevermind, is released in October 1991 and goes gold 10 days later.

7 September 1996

Tupac Shakur is shot in Las Vegas – this tragic event was the beginning of the end of gangsta rap – one of the most successful music genres of the decade.

22 December 1994

Madonna signs the Medusa-like Alanis Morissette to her label Maverick Records. Morissette's debut album, Jagged Little Pill, becomes the biggest selling debut album of all time.



23 November 1992

MTV plays Whitney Houston's epic I Will Always Love You from The Bodyguard in heavy rotation. The result is that the soundtrack goes on to sell 16 million copies and changes the way record companies and movie studios collaborate.

MTV, premieres Sunday 9th, 7.00pm

LIVE
FRENCH OPEN
EUROSPORT 10.00AM, 4.00PM

The clay court season reaches its peak at Roland Garros, Paris, in this second Grand Slam of the year. Last year, the 'Spanish Armada's' boat came in as Carlos Moya beat compatriot Alex Corretja to win the men's singles and Aranxta Sanchez Vicario beat Monica Seles in an emotional ladies' final. It's the opening day today, with two weeks of live action to look forward to. All the top stars will attend but this is not the favourite surface for Britain's Tim Henman or Greg Rusedski.

ENGLAND V ZIMBABWE
SKY SPORTS 1 10.30AM, 3.00PM

Trent Bridge, Nottingham, is the scene of this tricky qualifying match for England as they take on Zimbabwe, who actually beat England in a one-day series on home territory in southern Africa a couple of years ago. The Zimbabwean strength lies in a lively bowling attack which includes Henry Olonga. England too will be relying on their bowlers, so the veteran Middlesex seamer Angus Fraser may well come back into contention to back up the likes of Darren Gough and Alan Mullally.

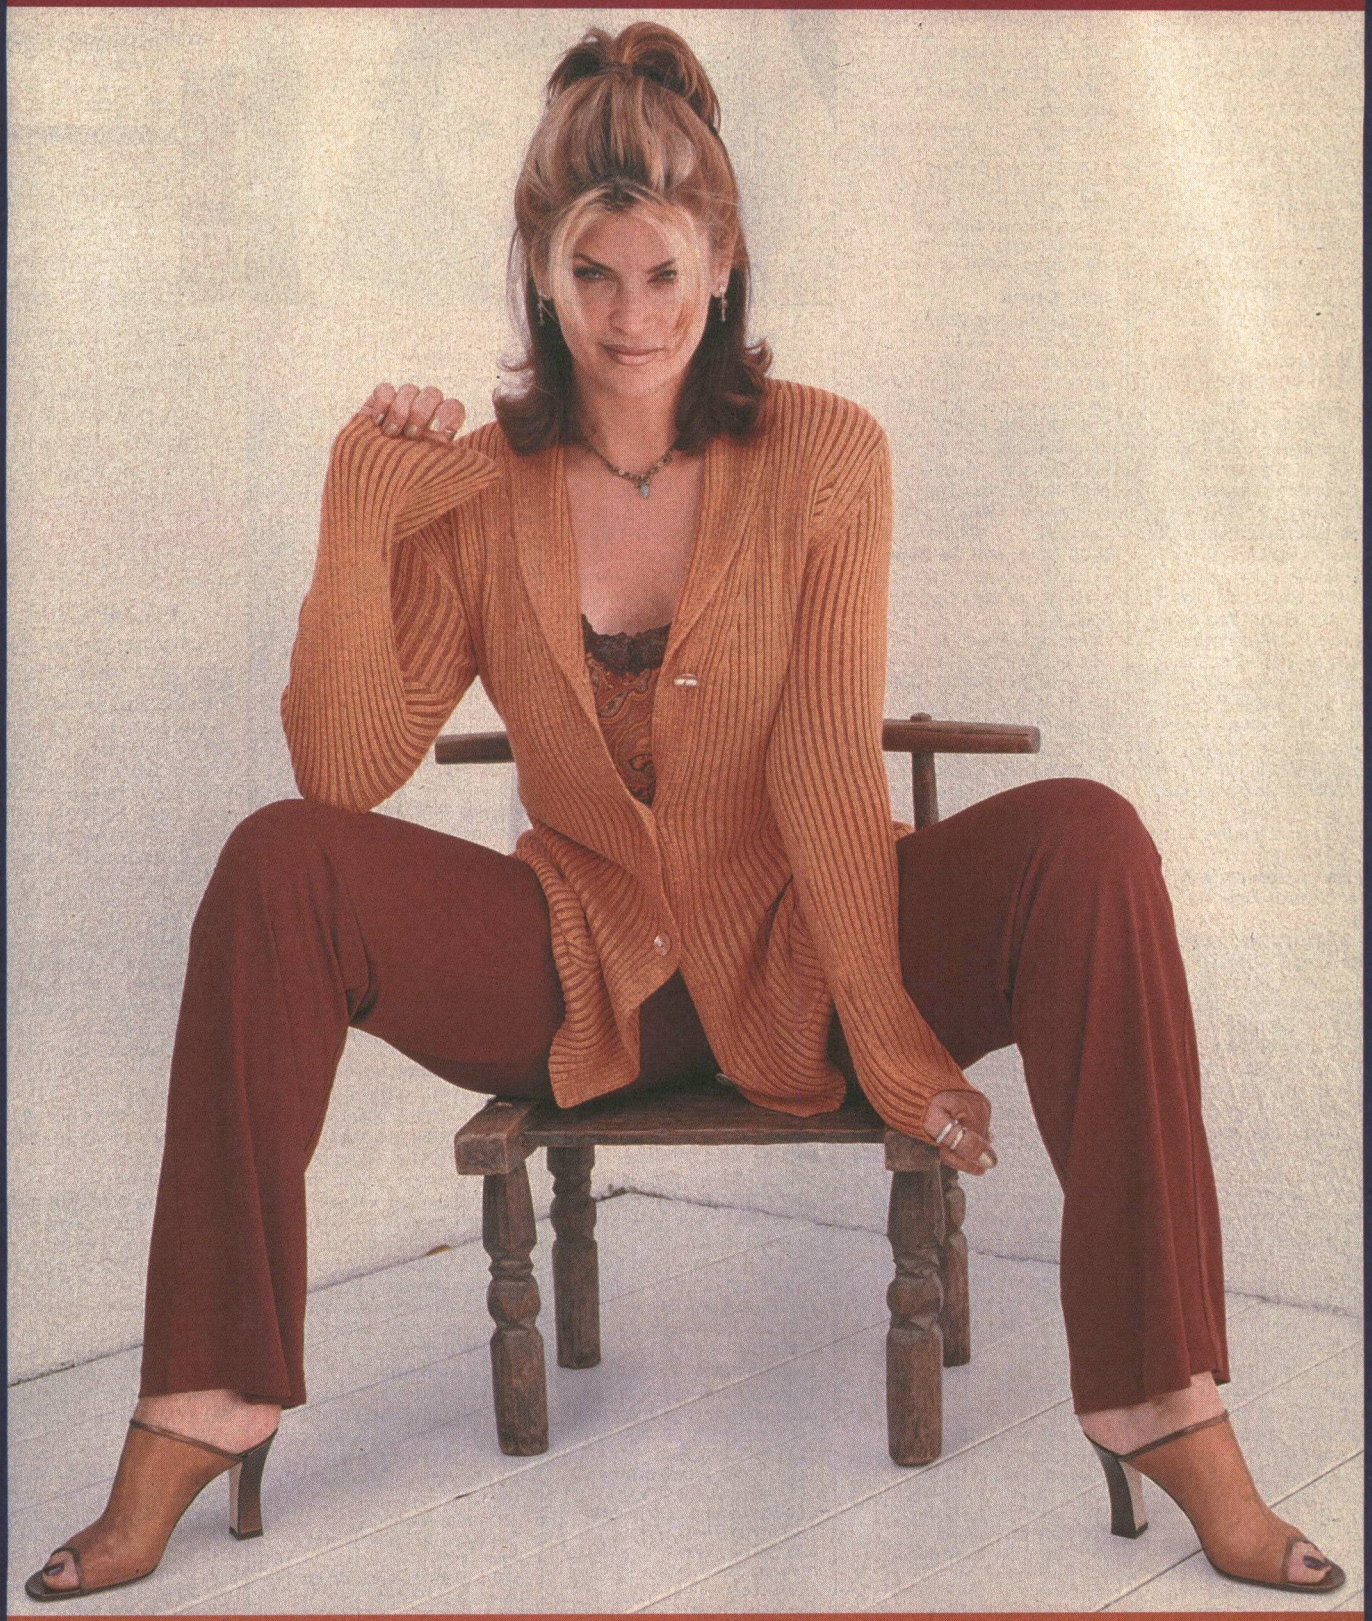
STAR OF THE MONTH KIRSTIE ALLEY



Age: Between 44 and 48 – she's cagey about it. Background: Raised in Wichita, Kansas, Kirstie went to the State University and spent some time in interior design before making it to Hollywood to commence her acting career. Best known for her portrayal of Boston bar manager Rebecca Howe in the long-running sitcom Cheers, which won her an Emmy award, Kirstie now stars as the lingerie company mogulette in Veronica's Closet (Sky One, Thursdays, 10.30pm). Film credits include her big screen debut in Star Trek II and the box office hits Look Who's Talking and Look Who's Talking Too with John Travolta.
Marital Status: Divorced husband Parker Stevenson after 13 years. Kirstie lives in Hollywood with their two adopted children, William True and Lillie Price. (Her company, True Blue Productions, is named after her son.) Her boyfriend is actor James Wilder.
Interests: Credits her good fortune to the controversial Church of Scientology. She has been a member since she was 26.
Also seen in: Woody Allen's Deconstructing Harry, For Richer or Poorer opposite Tim Allen and soon to appear with Ellen Barkin and Kirsten Dunst in the film Drop Dead Gorgeous.
Rumour has it ... Allegedly, Kirstie has set aside £625,000 for a new fertility treatment designed especially for older women.

WORLDWIDE RUGBY: SUPER 12
SKY SPORTS 3 8.30PM

Ninety minutes of highlights from the Super 12 semi-finals is enough entertainment for any rugby fan in an evening. This competition, of course, is why southern hemisphere rugby union still dominates. Traditionally the Springbok and Kiwi teams have had the best of these club contests, but maybe it's time for the Aussies to carve out their first win. Don't be surprised if the ACT Brumbies (finalists in 1997) are in the thick of the action tonight led by outstanding wing Joe Roff.

Life on Earth can be pretty tiring sometimes and a holiday once a year doesn't always make things any better. Join the Fantasy & SF Book Club, and you can explore whole new worlds, and get away from it all as often as you like.

With the Fantasy & SF Book Club you'll be offered the very best and latest titles from the world's bestselling fantasy and science fiction authors. From J. R. R. Tolkien and Terry Pratchett, David Eddings and Katherine Kerr, to Anne McCaffrey, William Gibson and Douglas Adams, we've got something for you, whatever planet you're from.

To become a member just choose any five of the books shown here from only 50p EACH (plus £2.95 p&p). BUT SEND NO MONEY NOW – you'll get them all on ten days' home approval.

WHAT DO YOU GET?

- A huge range of fantasy and SF books.
- A FREE magazine approximately every two months.
- Guaranteed savings of up to 50% on publishers' prices.
- Books delivered to your door.

All we ask is that you buy at least one book from each magazine for a minimum of four magazines. After that, buy as many or as few additional titles as you wish. To apply for membership of the Fantasy & SF Book Club, complete and return the coupon today.

SCOTTISH CUP FINAL: CELTIC V RANGERS
SKY SPORTS 3 2.00PM

Hampden Park plays host to the oldest of rivalries as Celtic and Rangers go head- to-head. The loss of the 1997/98 championship to Celtic was a bitter pill for Rangers to swallow and was compounded by losing to Hearts in the cup final but with Rod Wallace firing in the goals they will be hopeful of sweet revenge. However, with the pace of Celtic's Swedish hitman Henrik Larsson and the tactical knowledge of coach Jozef Venglos, the Rangers defence will have plenty to think about.

More women are victims of INTESTACY than DIVORCE

A woman, on average, lives longer than a man. So she is more likely to have to face the difficulties of intestacy – the legal term for being left in a mess because her husband didn't make a Will.

Many men assume that, on their death, all they own will automatically go to their wives. This isn't so – when a man dies intestate, his brothers, sisters and even cousins may also have a claim on what he owned.

His widow may have to sell the house to pay off his relations.

Find out how you can ensure your loved ones are properly provided for. Send or phone for our FREE guide to making a Will, today.

LIVE
SCOTLAND V NEW ZEALAND
SKY SPORTS 1 10.30AM, 3.00PM

If World Cup tournaments are all about the greatest players in the world doing battle, then the secondary reason they exist is for upsets. Why can't the nation's unheralded cricketers dump some higher-rated country out of this championship? Live from Edinburgh today is perhaps Scotland's best chance of doing that with a match against New Zealand. The Scots have home support, while the Kiwis have experience from men like Craig McMillan and Stephen Fleming. It could be close.

ANDY GRAY, WE LOVE YOU!

I AM 14 years old and a big fan of football. I think Sky Sports is the best thing on cable. I must admit that I was never a follower of football but since seeing a handsome bloke called Andy Gray on Sky Sports, I instantly became a footie fan. He is so sexy and cute. His commentary is excellent and he gets me into football straight away. I record and watch every football match on which he commentates. He gets me into the game so much that I've become a big fan of his. Please do me a big favour, and print a mouth-watering picture of this hunky man. I will never stop subscribing to Sky Sports as long as Andy is on it. P.S. I also think that Paul Dempsey is a gorgeous hardworking hunk. Sky Sports forever!

Renu Micheals
Wolverhampton

● Congratulations, Renu, you've won our £5 prize for best letter and we've even printed a 'mouth-watering' photo of the 'hunky' Andy Gray.

A CAVALCADE OF COMEDY

I HAVE to say that I am very impressed with Paramount's comedy line-up in the evenings. My family and I all enjoy watching Frasier together at 10.00pm and we all like Cheers, which follows afterwards. Seinfeld at 11.00pm is extremely funny and the line-up is rounded off perfectly with Larry Sanders, which we find hilarious. However, I was upset to find that Seinfeld was moved to 11.00pm from its usual 9.30pm slot.
I sometimes cannot find the time to watch it this late.

STARGATE LATEST

I READ with interest the letters in the April issue of Cable Guide berating Sky One for 'suddenly' dropping SG1 and leaving us with a cliff-hanger. I agree with the writers in that we had been watching one of the best sci-fi series ever. But Out Of Mind (the first of a two-part story) was the planned ending to the second series of Stargate (episode 2/22). I have checked on the web and found that series three should have started filming in March 1999 with at least a fourth series planned (broadcast dates are impossible to find at the moment). In an interview on the internet, series producer Jonathan Glassner was quoted as saying: 'Our ultimate goal is to do six (or more) years on television first, and then segue into an SG-1 movie franchise.'

One reader thinks that Sky Sports presenter Andy Gray is 'so sexy and cute'

For anyone with an internet connection the site www.sg-1.net is the ultimate point of reference for all things Stargate (as well as fan clubs for the major characters). I hope this information will put to rest any troubled minds.

Trance Dylan
e-mail

● A spokesperson from Sky One responds to the sack-load of letters we've received about the removal of 'Stargate SG-1' half-way through a story: 'The episode shown was actually the final episode of series two. The conclusion to this cliff-hanger story will be the first episode of series three, which will be aired sometime in the autumn.'

THE FISH ARE FINE

I AM replying to a letter in April's Cable Guide about the cruelty on display in the fishing programmes on cable. If you watch any of the programmes on coarse fishing or fly-fishing you will notice that a lot of care is taken to make sure these fish aren't injured. I'm only 14 but I'm a very keen Carp angler. I try to watch Rex Hunt's Fishing Adventures and Charlie West on Sunday mornings. I would much rather be watching these fishing programmes than knitting a cardigan or flicking through Reader's Digest.

BLACK CHANNEL

FOR some time I have been thinking that a black channel would be a welcome addition to cable TV. Cable seems to cater for everyone else's needs. Would this not be something to look into? Over the years there have been some wonderful black films and comedy shows, like The Color Purple and The Real McCoy. But once shown, they never seem to be repeated.

Miss J Kerr

NOT WIDE AWAKE

I KNOW that the idea of showing films in their original widescreen format is something that broadcasters are a little wary of because there are a lot of people out there who don't understand they are seeing the extra parts of the picture that are cut off in order to present a full screen television picture. I understand this dilemma for the broadcasters, and it's only fair that they should cater for the majority. However, considering the number of repeats most of the films get, it would keep most of the true film buffs happy if just one of each presentation was shown in widescreen, even if it is shown in the small hours. I cannot stress how frustrating it is for film fans and film-makers alike to see carefully composed shots cropped, edited, and panned.

BRAVO, BRILLIANT BENNY

A BIG pat on the back for Granada Plus for showing such a great selection of vintage programmes, especially The Avengers, Upstairs, Downstairs, The Sweeney, The Professionals and the one and only Benny Hill. The man is pure quality and as he is on five nights a week, I almost forget that there are other channels to watch. It must cost a fortune to get these marvellous programmes all on the one channel. Keep up the good work.

THEATRE OF MIRTH

I READ the letter sent in by Wayne Hanns in the March Cable Guide and I have to agree that Sci-Fi's Mystery Science Theatre 3000 is the funniest TV series I have ever seen – and I watch a lot of TV! I think Mike, Tom and Crow make the funniest comments during films that I would never normally be caught watching. I think Sci-Fi would be totally mad to pass up the chance of another series. I think people of all ages would enjoy this totally hilarious programme. Of course, there is a chance you'll die laughing.

Andrew Semple

STAMP OUT THE CRUSHER

I MUST agree with Rob Forey's letter about Beat the Crusher in the April Issue of Cable Guide. I am only 12 years old, but I have flicked over to Sky One while Beat the Crusher was on. I don't see the humour in watching some poor person's property being destroyed. The majority of the people who can't stop laughing would have something to say if it was them who were being laughed at. I agree with Mr Forey when he recommends the crushing of Beat the Crusher!

The current series of 'Friends' 'goes beyond all expectations'

BEST OF FRIENDS

I WOULD just like to tell you of my great pleasure at the new series of Friends. I have always been a huge fan of the show and this series goes beyond all expectations! The humour is wonderful. It's great family entertainment and I look forward to watching it all week. So I would like to express my gratitude to Sky One for broadcasting such a witty and wonderfully entertaining programme.

THE PERSONAL LOAN SERVICE

RATES NOW EVEN LOWER!

"A PERSONAL LOAN OVER THE PHONE? HERE'S A GUIDE."

WHY'S A LOMBARD DIRECT LOAN BETTER?

- Our unsecured loans range from £800 to £15,000
- You can use one for almost anything you like
- Rates reflect your circumstances and loan amount
- For loans of £12,000 and over, our typical rate (the rate more of our customers pay than any other) is 9.9% APR
- For loans of between £8,000 and £11,999, our typical APR is 10.9%
- For loans of between £5,000 and £7,999, our typical APR is 11.9%
- For loans of between £2,000 and £4,999, our typical APR is 12.9%
- For loans under £2,000, our typical APR is 16.9%
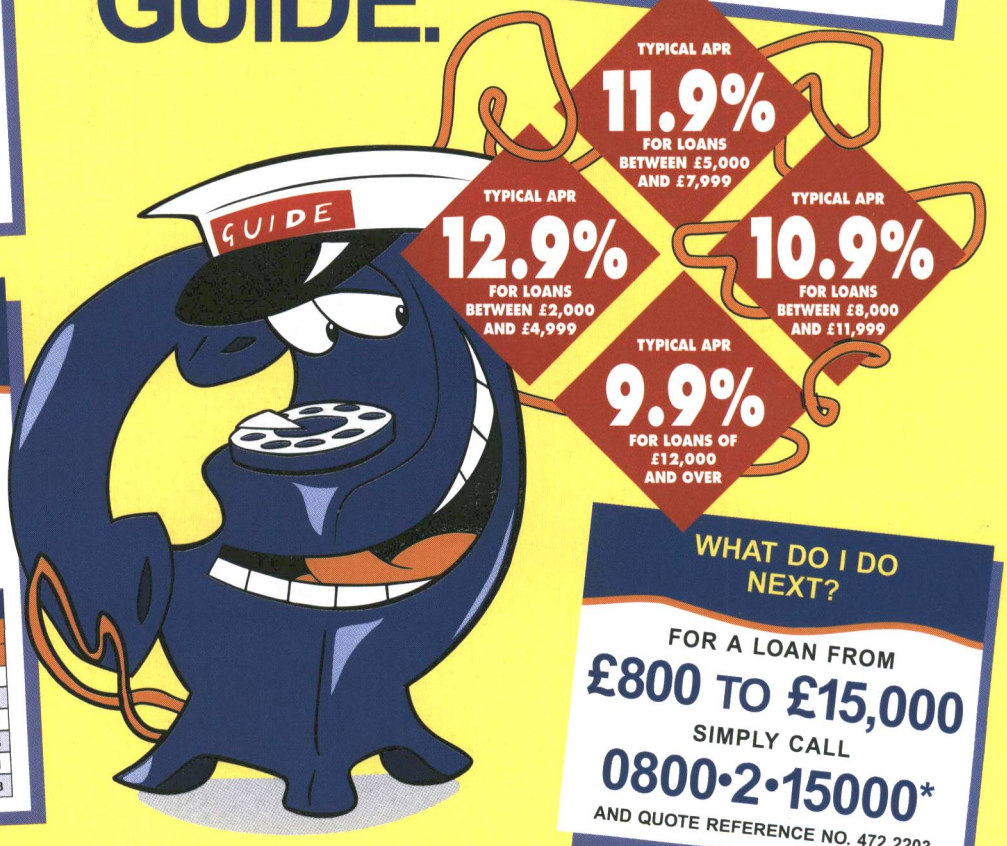
- You can repay over 2, 3, 4 or 5 years
- The interest rate stays fixed over the loan period
- Your repayments are guaranteed to remain the same
- There is no complicated paperwork
- We have no administration fees
- You can apply 24 hours a day - 7 days a week
- No-one beats our commitment to personal service and customer care.

HOW DO I APPLY?

You are welcome to apply for a loan if you:

- do not have any County Court Judgments
- are aged between 22 and 65
- have a bank or building society current account
- are resident in the UK mainland.

Call us free on 0800•2•15000. We'll ask a few more questions about your home, work, bank or building society, income and outgoings. And we'll usually give you a decision there and then. It's that simple.



WHAT'S A TYPICAL EXAMPLE?

For a loan of £5,000 repayable over 36 months, each monthly repayment would be £164.39. The total amount payable would be £5,918.04. APR 11.9%.

For your peace of mind, we offer a Repayment Protection Plan. The 'RPP' covers your repayments in the event of accident, illness or even redundancy.
